NEW LIBRARY BLOG!

The University Libraries now have their own blog for News, Events, and e-Resources trials and acquisitions. For the moment, the information in the blog mirrors the information contained in the three News columns at the bottom of our current library homepage. You can get to the blog directly (<http://melvillelibrary.blogspot.com>) or click on the links in the Announcements section of the library homepage.

The use of a blog was considered by the library's Publicity and Publications committee to be a easily maintainable way to keep our patrons and ourselves up-to-date about what's happening. The library's semi-annual newsletters (forthcoming) will draw in part on the library blog for stories. The blog will also help us to keep our users up-to-date between newsletters.

If you have news or an event that you would like to have added to the blog, please send your information to Aimée de Chambeau or Kristen Nyitray. When you send your information, please make sure it is spell checked and edited so that it is the way you want it to appear on the blog. If there are dates, times, and RSVP items associated with your post please remember to include them too! One of us will add your post as soon as possible after receiving it from you.

THANKS TO ELISSA, AIMEE AND NATHAN FOR THEIR EFFORTS IN GETTING THIS SET UP!
