

To All Faculty & Staff

Dear Colleagues,

The Provost's Lecture Series is pleased to host an intriguing talk by Dr. Isaac Ehrlich next week.

Dr. Ehrlich is a SUNY Distinguished Professor and Chair of the Department of Economics, University at Buffalo where he has received a NYSTAR grant to establish a new Signature Center of Excellence on Human Capital, Technology Transfer, and Economic Growth and Development to study the economics of human capital, specifically as it relates to aging, health, and economic growth. In addition, he founded and serves as the Chief Editor of the Journal of Human Capital. Professor Ehrlich is a pioneer in economics, in addition to his work on human capital, he has created new programs in the economics of crime, advertising, and the relation of human uncertainty to insurance.

Professor Ehrlich will present a talk on "Why the U.S. Became the Economic Superpower in the 20th Century" on Thursday, April 12, 2007, at 3:00 p.m. in the Student Activities Center, Ballroom B.

Please pass along this information to any students or community members you feel may be interested in attending.
