FIVE-YEAR REUNION CLASSES
1918 — 1923 — 1928 — 1933 — 1938
March 1943 — December 1943
1948 — 1953 — 1958 — 1963
Six months have gone by since I assumed the duties of President of our Alumni Association. I have, in pursuit of these duties, had the privilege of representing you and the Alumni Association on several occasions.

A review of these events should serve to give you an idea of the scope of our activities.

June 8, your President participated in the graduation ceremony for 160 students in the Class of 1967. At that time I escorted Dr. Abraham Wikler, Class of 1935, who had been selected to receive the Alumni Achievement Medallion for Distinguished Service to American Medicine. I am happy to report to you that your Alumni Association had a prominent place on the program and in the proceedings.

June 19, I met with a group of Alumni and guests in Atlantic City at the Dennis Hotel. These reunions at the various national medical conventions have become increasingly popular. This meeting, held in conjunction with the Annual Convention of the American Medical Association, was no exception. Following a lively cocktail party and reception, a good dinner was served. A pleasant hour was then spent viewing color slides of the recently opened State University Hospital.

September 6, I was privileged to address the incoming class of freshmen students during their orientation week. There were 200 in the entering class and they seemed genuinely pleased to receive the greetings and good wishes of the Alumni Association. I took the opportunity to outline the role we play in school and student affairs.

September 27, your Board of Managers met with the Presidents of the four student classes and the President of the Student Council. Cocktails and dinner preceded a regular meeting of the Board. The undergraduate guests were active participants and, I hope, were inspired to convey to their classmates the range and scope of the activities of the Alumni Association on their behalf.

October 3, alumni and faculty attending the annual convention of the American College of Surgeons in Chicago gathered at the Sheraton-Blackstone Hotel for cocktails and dinner. All reports indicate that this was a very gay and joyful occasion.

October 20, your Association was pleased to have the opportunity to sponsor a cultural evening for the student body. Samuel Baron, a renowned flutist, was accompanied on harpsichord and played to a packed house. Four of the officers of the Association were the dinner guests of President Joseph K. Hill preceding the enjoyable concert. I could not help but contrast the high level of this entertainment with the somewhat more earthy but much less erudite diversions typical of my student evenings at Donnellon House on Amity Street.

We are planning to sponsor another cultural evening in the Spring.

October 31, Alumni Night 1967, was a great success by any standard. Dr. Max H. Well, Class of 1952, of Los Angeles, made a triumphant return to his Alma Mater and delivered a marvelous dissertation on "Bedside Management of Circulatory Shock with Special Reference to the Use of Vasoactive Drugs". The auditorium was filled to capacity and the audience was reluctant to let Hal leave to catch his plane. We were pleased that Hal’s mother and father were able to be in the audience and to hear him speak.

The Engel Plaque dedication ceremony preceded the Alumni Night Program. The handsome plaque commemorating the magnificent gift of Dr. William Engel, Class of 1909, and his late wife Raynore, was dedicated and unveiled with appropriate ritual.

These events were the dividends, not the substance, of your Alumni Association’s activities with which I have concerned myself during the past six months. Our regular endeavors for the benefit of the undergraduates have, of course, gone on in routine fashion. In addition, we have been investigating the possibility of augmenting the activities of the Alumni Association, but I’ll save that for a later report.

Let me assure you that it is a pleasure to serve you, and I am looking forward with great anticipation to the rest of my term.

A NIGHT TO REMEMBER—
ENGEL PLAQUE DEDICATION AND ALUMNI NIGHT

It was with great pleasure that I accepted the invitation to report the proceedings on the occasion of the plaque dedication in recognition of the establishment of the William and Raynore Engel Scholarship and Fellowship Fund.

The evening of Tuesday, October 31st, began with a formal reception and dinner at the Medical School preceding the dedication and lecture. Alumni and guests who attended enjoyed an hour of warmth and good fellowship followed by a delicious dinner, well-served in a glittering atmosphere. It was a great disappointment to all that Dr. Engel could not be with us to occupy his proper place on the dais with other distinguished guests and alumni. Representing him, however, were his good friends, John J. Niemann, attorney and an Executor of the Fund, and Mrs. Niemann, and Robert Benjamin, Trust Officer of the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company, and Mrs. Benjamin.

After dinner we repaired to Alumni Memorial Hall, where a capacity audience had already gathered for the evening's program. Dr. Benjamin Zohn, ’25, Chairman of the Board of Trustees of The Alumni Fund, initiated the dedication ceremonies by welcoming the assembly and introducing the guests of honor. The principal dedicatory address, which appears on page 10, was delivered by Dr. S. Charles Franco, '31, Assistant Vice President, Consolidated Edison Company of New York, and one who did much to shape events that led to our having an Engel Fund. The plaque was unveiled by Dr. Franco and Dr. Zohn and acknowledged on behalf of Dr. Engel by Mr. Niemann and Mr. Benjamin.

The dinner guests adjourned to Alumni Memorial Hall where an overflowing group of students, faculty and alumni were gathered for the dedication ceremonies and the Alumni Night program.

The Engel Plaque has been permanently installed in the second floor lobby near the entrance to Alumni Memorial Hall, Basic Sciences Building, as a constant reminder to all who pass by of the generosity and concern of an alumnus and his wife for the welfare of our students, and the importance of maintaining the high standards of medical education for which our School is well known.

I hope the present crop of students who are beneficiaries of this great philanthropic gesture by Dr. and Mrs. Engel will have the same appreciation I would have had were there an Engel Fund in my day. Deep within me still burns the flickering remembrance of trying to make ends meet in the depression years when I was a student here. I came from a New England home of sacrifice and not affluence. I needed the kind of help the Engel Fund now gives to students, and can appreciate what this fund means to needy boys and girls. Borrowing from every possible source left me with a burden that was not unloaded until many years after my graduation from our College. After four years of deprivation at medical school, came six burdensome years of surgical training where for over six years of service I received less than one-quarter of the present annual stipend of a first-year intern.

Let me express my personal gratitude to Dr. and Mrs. Engel, first, as a Trustee of The Alumni Fund which administers this outstanding philanthropy—the first and largest of its kind our Alumni Association has had to care for; secondly, as an Admissions Officer at our School who has first-hand knowledge of other fine but economically deprived young people who desire to enter the field of medicine; and thirdly, as Professor of Surgery who has had students able to work in my laboratory because Engel subsidy was available to them.

The second highlight of the evening was the Alumni Night lecture by Dr. Max Weil, '52, who presented a review of his researches in the field of shock reported on page 12.

PHILLIP E. LEAR, '34
Editor Emeritus
DEDICATORY ADDRESS AT ENGEL PLAQUE CEREMONIES

This plaque to Raynore and Doctor William Engel, ’09, serves to memorialize their generous contribution which has provided vital assistance to medical students and enabled them to complete their education. The Engel Fund is in the tradition of the good physician who seeks to improve the knowledge of those who follow him. This plaque also honors the contributions of Raynore and William Engel as citizens with a sense of service and responsibility to the community. This was reflected in Doctor Engel’s service overseas with the Medical Corps during World War I. He saw active duty in four major engagements and was honored with the Distinguished Service Cross for his meritorious services. On his return to civilian life, Doctor Engel was active in professional societies and the medical community of New York.

Raynore Engel participated in the Stage Door Canteen (Theatre Wing) in World War II. She was also active in the American Red Cross and in the French and British counterpart organizations, and received decorations for her services. Her charity extended to the Ziegfield Club which she helped to organize to render services for needy actresses.

Mr. John Niemann was legal counselor to Raynore and William Engel and played an important role in the early direction of the Fund to the Alumni Association through his business association with the late Dr. John J. Wittmer, ’22, Vice President of the Consolidated Edison Company of New York.

It was Dr. and Mrs. Engel’s appreciation for the professional ability of their personal physician, Dr. Ralph Sussman, ’32, that actually decided them on the annual contribution to the Alumni Association in November, 1959 and established an annual Engel scholarship which was entirely aside from the Trust which had previously been announced on May 16, 1959 at the Alumni Dinner Dance in the Hotel Roosevelt.

On this occasion, the Golden Anniversary of the Class of 1909, the assembled alumni received announcement from Doctor and Mrs. Engel that they had provided, by Will, a testamentary trust making the Research, Scholarship and Student Loan Fund of the Alumni Association of the College of Medicine at New York City the beneficiary. The testamentary trust went into effect after the sad death of Raynore Engel on August 27, 1962 at the Greenbrier in White Sulphur Springs, West Virginia. Doctor Alfred P. Ingegno (Class of ’33) in “The Story of the Engel Fund” in the September, 1964 issue of the Alumni Bulletin paid a fine tribute to Mrs. Engel in his statement that “Her memory lives on in the magnificent potential of this generous gesture”.

The Dr. William and Raynore Engel Fund, which will eventually be valued at $1,400,000, has been administered by the Morgan Guaranty Trust Company of New York as Trustee, and is under the direction of Mr. Robert Benjamin. The income is paid to the Alumni Association for disposition by the Board of Trustees of The Alumni Fund for scholarships to needy medical students and fellowships for graduate physicians who desire to devote themselves to research. This trust fund will continue in perpetuity and is known as The William and Raynore Engel Scholarship and Fellowship Fund.

From 1963 through 1966, 141 students received assistance for a total amount of $94,485 for tuition, books, instruments and fees. In 1967, it is contemplated that nearly 60 students will receive approximately $32,000. In addition, during the past summer 11 students received $8,050 for summer research and clinical fellowships.

Distinguished Alumnus, Max H. Weil, ’52
Alumni Night Speaker

Dr. Max H. Weil, Class of 1952, delivered the fifth annual Alumni Night lecture to a capacity audience in Alumni Memorial Hall on Tuesday, October 31, 1967, immediately following the dedication ceremony for the William and Raynore Engel Scholarship and Fellowship Fund plaque. Dr. Weil’s talk on the “Bedside Management of Circulatory Shock with Special Reference to the use of Vasomotor Drugs” marked the beginning of a new policy of inviting a distinguished Downstate alumnus to present the Alumni Night address.

Dr. Weil began by describing the organization of his unique shock research unit, in which modern computer techniques have facilitated the performance and recording of bedside hemodynamic observations. His presentation was enhanced by superb illustrations and diagrams which were as instructive as they were eye-catching. Various forms of shock and current concepts regarding their etiologic mechanisms were described. Illustrative case histories and experimental data formed the basis for a detailed analysis of shock pathophysiology. Dr. Weil concluded by describing his concept of a spectrum of hemodynamic actions of the various vasoactive drugs and how they can be used in clinical situations.

Dr. Weil, internationally known for his research on shock, is currently Associate Professor of Medicine at the University of Southern California School of Medicine. He is also Director of the Shock Research Unit at Los Angeles County General Hospital, the first shock research unit in this country, which he organized in 1961. He has published over 170 papers on the Shock Syndrome and is co-author of a new book, “Diagnosis and Treatment of Shock”.

The plaque reads: “This Plaque Erected By The Alumni Association State University of New York Downstate Medical Center In Grateful Acknowledgment Of the Generosity Of Dr. William Engel, ’09, and Raynore, His Wife, In The Establishment Of the Dr. William and Raynore Engel Fund For Scholarships and Fellowships To Maintain And Advance The High Standards Of The Medical Profession.”

12 · Alumni Association Bulletin
When the new elective program for senior students was instituted this year, another milestone in the history of the Downstate Medical Center was set. The opportunity for the students to choose their course of study for two-thirds of the year was the outcome of this program. Hopefully, each student would find his niche and pursue his interests unhindered.

Only recently the Department of Medicine announced that an examination would be given to those students who participated in the Medical Clinics elective. This was without previous announcement at the outset of the course. This announcement came only two and one-half weeks before the termination of the course, nine and one-half weeks after the course began. This is outrageously unjust to the students involved. Furthermore, when the elective program was in its infancy and students were choosing their courses, it was implied that there would be no examination, only a paper.

Subsequent to this announcement, students who had already planned to take Medical Clinics are now planning to eliminate this course from their curriculum. One may interject at this time and say that those students who are willing to alter their program because of an examination are just looking for an easy way out. Even if this is the case, such an argument is not valid because this situation would not have arisen if the Department of Medicine had set down the course requirements when students were planning their programs.

As an additional point, I cannot see the purpose of having examinations in some elective courses and not in others. This disparity obviously creates further inequalities in the system of grading. Unlike the past, students are no longer following the same curriculum and are therefore graded for their work differently. Examinations are not immoral, and if a department feels that the only fair means of grading is by a written examination then it should be stated as one of the course's requirements when a student is planning his elective program. I feel the Department of Medicine has not acted in the best interests of the students.

THE NIGHT OF THE FLUTE

The fine arts came to Downstate Medical Center on the evening of October 20, 1967 when Samuel Baron, an accomplished flutist, performed splendidly for a capacity audience. Accompanied by Samuel Sanders, an equally accomplished harpsichordist, Mr. Baron commanded the undivided attention of the audience as he so beautifully performed pieces by Handel, C.P.E. Bach, J. S. Bach and Telemann.

The audience was comprised of a representative cross section of the Downstate community. Attending were such notable alumni as Dr. A. W. Martin Marino, Jr., President of the Alumni Association, Dr. George Liberman, Dr. Benjamin Zohn, and Dr. Horace Herbsman. Dr. David Kydd, Associate Dean, was one of the many faculty on hand, and many students were present at the first concert of its kind.

The enthusiasm felt at this concert will certainly initiate an even greater (Continued on page 14)
