Subject Search for Director of the Honors College

Colleagues,

I am writing to solicit nominations and applications for the position of director of the Honors College. Ruth Cowan, who has led the Honors College ably in this role, has accepted an endowed Chair at the University of Pennsylvania in their Department of History. We wish her well in this wonderful new position and thank her for her years of service.

Ruth will be leaving the Honors College this summer. Accordingly, I am now initiating an internal search for a new faculty director. The faculty director is the intellectual leader of the Honors College and must be a tenured member of the faculty with a demonstrated commitment to both scholarly research and undergraduate education. The faculty director will be responsible for faculty and curricular issues in the college, will oversee the review of student applications for Fall admission, will teach a course, and will work closely with both the administrative director and the Honors College students. The position carries a stipend.

Please address all inquiries and nominations directly to Mark Aronoff, Deputy Provost, who will chair the search. The search committee will begin considering candidates May 21.

Thank you,

Robert L. McGrath, Provost and Exec. VP for Academic Affairs
