5. Stony Brook University will be part of Jurassic Mall III, Land, Air and Sea, at the Smith Haven Mall.

Drs. David Krause and Catherine Forster, from the School of Medicine's Department of Anatomical Sciences, contributed their dinosaur-hunting expertise to the exhibit of life-size robotic models set in an authentic rendition of their habitat. They were recently part of a team in Madagascar that unearthed the fossils of an unknown dinosaur and named it after rock star Mark from Dire Straits, whose music inspired the scientists during the

Knopfler
dig. Another find, the complete skull of the predatory majungatholus, will be on display. Luci-Betti-Nash, Anatomical Sciences' scientific illustrator, contributed much of the artwork
in the exhibit.

Visitors will also learn about the Ankizy Fund, helping to build schools and improve health care to children in Madagascar.
Entrance for Jurassic Mall is $3/Adults and $2/children under 12.
The exhibit is open Monday - Saturday from noon to 9 p.m. and Sunday from noon to 6 p.m. from July 1 - August 12.
