Message from the Dean

A Matter of Choice

A recent study that came across my computer projected that by 2002, 75% of all best sellers would be available as e-books. Since I occasionally purchase best sellers, I started to wonder about what it would be like to read them as e-books? Small, light, and portable, to be sure. Maybe less expensive. But, what about the reading experience? Sometimes I make notes in the margins. Not always. The more I thought about it, the more I concluded that e-books need not entirely supplant traditional publishing for them to be successful. It is just another product adding choice, variety, and convenience. And, I might certainly purchase one to take on a trip instead of lugging a 2 pound, 500 page behemoth in my carry-on!

Why do we always seem to frame the issue as "either/or," as one vs. the other? A similar debate is taking place regarding online electronic distance education (e-learning) and its merits compared with face-to-face courses. In my view, there is no single ideal educational environment. Rather, excellence in education exists when both teachers and students work together to create an exciting and challenging intellectual environment. Period. Online, face-to-face, weekend, summer, off-campus, the format does not matter. What counts is the energy and enthusiasm participants bring with them to share.

As Dean, my goal is to expand choice and opportunity, bringing the greatest educational value to you in graduate degree and career development programs. SPD's continued growth is one sign of our success. Another is the accomplishment of our graduates. I hope you become one of them soon.

See you at Commencement!

Earn your Master's Degree at your convenience
— online, anytime, everywhere —

The School of Professional Development's Center for Distance Learning at the State University of New York at Stony Brook is pleased to offer an accredited Master's Degree completely online via the Internet. The Master of Arts in Liberal Studies Online (MA/LS Online) degree program has been approved by the New York State Education Department (HEGIS 4901).

For program information, registration requirements and application materials, visit:
www.sunysb.edu/spd/mals_online.htm or email: EEP@notes.cc.sunysb.edu

The MA/LS Online degree program will begin accepting applications for the Fall 2001 term in February, 2001. The deadline for receipt of the application with all supporting documentation is May 1, 2001.
Master of Arts in Liberal Studies

(HEGIS 4901) The Master of Arts in Liberal Studies (MA/LS) is an interdisciplinary degree program that examines issues and themes in the arts and humanities, social and behavioral sciences, and natural and applied sciences. The program is offered primarily to adult students who seek educational enrichment and professional development on a part-time evening basis. The MA/LS does not specifically serve as a prerequisite for a more advanced degree.

Course of Study

This degree program consists of 11 three-credit courses, distributed among the areas listed below.

A. Liberal Studies Core

12 credits. Only courses designated as "Liberal Studies" core courses will apply toward fulfilling this requirement. Courses that have met the University's standards for the Liberal Studies core are designated by ▲ and can be found beginning on page 33 of this bulletin.

- Arts and Humanities Liberal Studies (AH/LS), 3 credits
- Social and Behavioral Sciences Liberal Studies (SB/LS), 3 credits
- Natural and Applied Sciences Liberal Studies (NS/LS), 3 credits
- Any additional Liberal Studies course with an AH, SB or NS designator, 3 credits

B. Thematicallity-Related Cluster

18 credits. Cluster courses for the MA/LS may be selected, as appropriate, from among the University's grade offerings and are related by theme or subject. Those courses that are of special interest to MA/LS degree students are described in the SPG Bulletin.

Students develop their own cluster with guidance and approval of an SPG academic advisor. Sample cluster titles will be discussed at orientation. Call 631.632.7050 to schedule an appointment.

C. MA/LS Project Seminar

3 credits. Students are required to submit a paper or project, usually related to their cluster area, that demonstrates the ability to develop ideas and use analytical skills at the master's level. Students admitted to the MA/LS degree program meet this requirement through a three-credit project seminar (CED 595). Several sections of this seminar will be offered each semester.

Prerequisite: Satisfactory completion of 9 of the 12-credit liberal studies requirement.

To Apply

1. Obtain an application from SPD by calling 631.632.7050.
2. Attend an on-campus group orientation session, at which time all degree requirements will be outlined along with your course of study. To schedule an appointment, call 631.632.7050.
3. Submit the completed application and non-refundable $50 application fee at the orientation.
4. Bring a sealed official copy of your transcript to the orientation showing that a Bachelor's Degree has been awarded. If you cannot bring your transcript to the orientation, please arrange to have it sent to the School of Professional Development prior to the orientation. If your official transcript indicates an undergraduate cumulative GPA below 2.75, you will be considered for provisional admission. Provisionally admitted part-time students must achieve a 3.00 after attempting six graduate credits (applicable to their program) at Stony Brook. Full-time students (12 or more credits) must achieve a 3.00 after their first semester. If a 3.00 GPA is not achieved as above, students normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.
5. Submit an Immunization Record directly to the Director of Student Health Services within 30 days of your admission.

Teacher Certification

At the present time, there are two routes to teacher certification in New York State: one through an institutional-based program approved by the State Education Department; the other through completion of coursework in a University setting but not necessarily through an approved degree. In this instance, application for one's teaching license may be processed through a local Board of Cooperative Educational Services (BOCES).

A Master's Degree is not required for an initial license; however, a functionally-relevant Master's Degree is required for the advanced (professional) license. By matriculating in an "approved" master's degree program, one may obtain licensure through the program, in effect "killing two birds with one stone" (obtaining a license and a degree concurrently). Even if one is not matriculated in an "approved" program, you may include certification coursework in any appropriate master's degree program provided that the courses are relevant to the degree.

At Stony Brook, the Masters of Arts in Teaching (MAT) is the "registered and approved" program. The MA/LS is a functionally-relevant Master's Degree for professional licensure even though one would be obtaining one's initial certification via an alternate route through BOCES. Admisson on teacher certification (particularly how individual SPD courses may satisfy teacher certification requirements) must be obtained by either writing or calling:

Office of Teaching
NYS Education Department (NYSED)
Albany, NY 12232
Telephone: 518-474-3901

Visit the New York State Education Department on the Web:
http://www.nysed.gov/ctert/homepage.htm

For admission relating to prior approval of courses for certification purposes and forms for alternate route filing, you may contact your local BOCES (Nassau, 516-997-8700; Western Suffolk, 631-544-4900; Eastern Suffolk, 631-289-2200) or the New York City Board of Education if you reside in the city.
Master of Arts in Teaching: English

(HEGIS 1501) The Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT): English is a course of study leading to New York State certification for teaching English in the secondary schools (grades 7–12). This program, which is offered in collaboration with the University's Department of English and Professional Education Program, is designed for those who have little or no previous coursework in education or formal classroom teaching experience.

Course of Study
This degree program consists of 39 credits, distributed among the areas listed below. Unless otherwise noted, each course is three credits.

A. English Language and Literature
18 credits. Course selection will be determined by the student and advisor. Students who have academic deficiencies in English linguistics and/or did not complete an advanced analytical composition course will be required to include courses that specifically address these deficiencies. These courses will be part of the 18 credits selected to satisfy this requirement.

Students may substitute one to six credits from Theatre Arts to fulfill this requirement.

B. Professional Studies in Education
15 credits as follows:

CEE 595 Education: Theory and Practice
CEE 565 Adolescent Growth and Development
CEE 588 Methods of Instruction in Literature and Composition in the Secondary School
CEE 590 Student Teaching Seminar (co-requisites: CEE 591 & 592; prerequisites: CEE 588 & 593)
CEE 593 Performance and Technology in Teaching Literature and Composition (prerequisite: CEE 588)

C. Supervised Student Teaching
6 credits as follows:

CEQ 591 Supervised Student Teaching High School
Grades 10–12; English (co-requisites: CEQ 590 & 592; prerequisites: CEE 588 & 593)

CEQ 592 Supervised Student Teaching Middle School
Grades 7–9; English (co-requisites: CEQ 590 & 591; prerequisites: CEE 588 & 593)

D. Written Project
Students will be required to complete a four-week English teaching module specifically designed for the Supervised Student Teaching project.

To Apply
Minimum Requirements: You must have completed an academic major in English or a minimum of 36 credits in English with a minimum GPA of 2.75 in your overall bachelor's degree program and a minimum GPA of 3.00 in English studies. You must demonstrate, through your application and recommendations, that you possess the temperament and disposition to be an effective teacher.

In addition, your academic transcripts must indicate that you have completed at least one year of college-level study of a foreign language.

Application Procedure: Applications and instructions are available to download on SPD's website at www.sunysb.edu/spd/MATapp.htm (please note that all web addresses are case sensitive). You may also call 631.632.7055 to obtain an application packet. Return the completed packet to SPD. A completed packet consists of:

- Completed MAT application with a $50 non-refundable application fee.
- Three letters of recommendation.
- Official copies of all previous college transcripts.
- Official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (General Test).
- Immunization Record.

Teacher Certification
While NYSED requires a minimum of 36 credits in the content field in order to be certified, SUNY Stony Brook requires that students must have completed an undergraduate degree with a major in the content field for admission to the MAT program. This major must be equivalent to a similar major at Stony Brook.

In order to be recommended for New York State certification, students must complete all courses required for the MAT.

Note
The MAT in English consists of at least three semesters of work (excluding summer session) for the full-time student and a somewhat longer period of time for the part-time student.

Applications and supporting documentation (including GRE results) for the spring term must be received by November 15; for the fall term by April 15.

  - FRN 508 Explication de Texte
  - FRN 510 French Phonetics and Diction
  - Plus, one additional graduate-level FRN literature course

- ITALIAN (HEGIS 1104)
  - ITL 501 Contemporary Italy
  - ITL 508 Advanced Grammar and Stylistics
  - ITL 509 Contrasting Italian and English
  - ITL 511 History of the Italian Language
  - Plus, one additional graduate-level ITL literature course

- GERMAN (HEGIS 1103)
  - GER 504 German Cultural History
  - GER 506 Advanced Stylistics
  - Plus, one of the following:
    - GER 557 History of the German Language
    - GER 539 Contrastive Structures: German–English
    - GER 558 Middle High German
  - And, two GER graduate-level literature courses

- RUSSIAN (HEGIS 1106)
  - RUS 506 Russian Stylistics or
  - RUS 520 Russian Syntax
  - RUS 538 Structure of Russian
  - SLV 504 Slavic Culture
  - Plus, two RUS graduate-level literature courses

B. Professional Studies in Education
18 credits as follows:

- CEE 505 Education: Theory and Practice
- CEE 565 Adolescent Growth and Development
- FLA 505 Methods of Teaching Foreign Languages
- FLA 506 Curriculum Development in the Foreign Language Classroom (prerequisite: FLA 505)
- FLA 540 Foreign Language Acquisition Research
- FLA 554 Student Teaching Seminar (co-requisites: FLA 551 & 552; prerequisites: FLA 505, 506 & 540)

C. Supervised Student Teaching
6 credits as follows:

Master of Arts in Teaching: Science

The Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT): Biology, Chemistry, Earth Science, or Physics programs are designed to lead to New York State certification for teaching in the secondary schools (grades 7-12). The programs are offered in collaboration with the University's Departments of Chemistry, Geosciences, Physics, Biochemistry and Cell Biology, and Professional Education Program. They were designed for those who have little or no previous coursework in education or formal classroom teaching experience.

Course of Study
These degree programs consist of 39 credits, distributed among the areas listed below. Unless otherwise noted, each successfully completed course fulfills three credits.

A. Graduate Science Courses
15 credits. Courses are selected with the approval of a departmental advisor. Listed below are samples of typical programs:

Biology (HEGIS 1901)
- CEB 546 Topics in Biotechnology
- CEB 547 Current Topics in Genetics and Molecular Biology
- CEB 548 Micro-organisms, Infectious Diseases and the Immune Response

Chemistry (HEGIS 1906)
- CHE 501 Instrumental Methods in Chemistry
- CHE 504 Structure and Reactivity in Organic Chemistry
- CHE 507 Biomolecular Structure and Reactivity
- CHE 511 Structural Inorganic Chemistry
- CHE 590 Master’s Term Paper

Earth Science (HEGIS 1917)
- GEO 543 Stratigraphy
- GEO 546 Mineralogy and Petrology
- GEO 549 Structural Geology
- GEO 585 Directed Studies
- MAR 527 Global Change

Physics (HEGIS 1902)
- PHY 525 Current Research Instrumentation
- PHY 585 Special Study: Optics and Waves
- PHY 586 Special Study: Introductory Quantum Mechanics
- PHY 587 Special Study: Electromagnetic Theory

B. Professional Studies in Education
18 credits as follows:
- CEE 505 Education: Theory and Practice
- CEE 565 Adolescent Growth & Development
- SCI 510 Introduction to Science Teaching (co-requisite: SCI 541)
- SCI 520 Science Teaching Methods (co-requisite: SCI 542; (prerequisite: SCI 510)
- SCI 541 Clinical Experience and Action Research: Part I (co-requisite: SCI 510)
- SCI 542 Clinical Experience and Action Research: Part II (co-requisite: SCI 520)
- SCI 554 Student Teaching Seminar (co-requisites: SCI 551 & 552; prerequisites: SCI 510, 520, 541 & 542)

C. Supervised Student Teaching
6 credits as follows:
- SCI 551 Supervised Student Teaching High School Grades 10–12: Science (co-requisites: SCI 552 and 554; prerequisites: SCI 510, 520, 541 & 542)
- SCI 552 Supervised Student Teaching Middle School Grades 7–9: Science (co-requisites: SCI 551 and 554; prerequisites: SCI 510, 520, 541 & 542)

D. Written Project
Students will be required to complete a teaching project approved by the sponsoring department.

To Apply
Minimum Requirements: You are expected to have completed an undergraduate course of study that is substantially equivalent to that of a Stony Brook undergraduate degree program in the science for which you seek certification. You must also have achieved a minimum overall GPA of 2.75 in your overall bachelor’s degree program and a minimum GPA of 3.00 in science courses. You must demonstrate, through your application and recommendations, that you possess the temperament and disposition to be an effective teacher.

In addition, your transcripts must indicate that you have completed at least one year of college-level study of a foreign language.

Advisors: You should first consult with the appropriate MAT departmental advisor to determine whether you should proceed with the application process.

Departmental advisors are:

Master of Arts in Teaching: Social Studies

(HEGIS 2201) The Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT): Social Studies, with a concentration in history, is a course of study leading to New York State certification for teaching social studies in the secondary schools (grades 7-12). The program, offered in collaboration with the University's Department of History and Professional Education Program, was designed for those who have little or no previous coursework in education or formal classroom teaching experience.

Course of Study
The program consists of 36 credits, distributed among the areas listed below. Unless otherwise noted, each course counts for three credits.

A. History 15 credits as follows:
   HIS 500 Historiography
   Plus 12 credits selected from the following:
   HIS 521/522 Seminars: U.S. History (3 or 6 credits)
   HIS 501/502 Seminars: European History (3 or 6 credits)
   HIS 541/542 Seminars: Latin American History (3 or 6 credits)
   HIS 562 Topics Seminar: African or Asian History (3 or 6 credits)

B. Professional Studies in Education 15 credits as follows:
   CEE 505 Education: Theory and Practice
   CEE 565 Adolescent Growth & Development
   CEE 577 Teaching Social Studies (full semester only)
   CEE 578 Social Studies Strategies (spring semester only; CEE 577 prerequisite)
   CEE 580 Student Teaching Seminar (co-requisites: CEE 581 & 582; prerequisite: CEE 577 & 578)

C. Supervised Student Teaching
   6 credits as follows:
   CEQ 581 Supervised Student Teaching
   High School Grades 10-12 (co-requisites: CEE 580 & CEQ 582 prerequisites: CEE 577 & 578)
   CEQ 582 Supervised Student Teaching
   Middle School Grades 7-9 (co-requisites: CEE 580 & CEQ 581; prerequisites: CEE 577 & 578)

D. Written Project
   Students are required to complete a 4-week social studies teaching module specifically designed for the Supervised Student Teaching project.

To Apply

Minimum Requirements: You must have completed an academic major (a minimum of 36 credits) in history or within another social science major (excluding psychology, education, and linguistics) and at least 18 credits of history, with 9 of these credits at the upper division level. Transcripts must show a minimum GPA of 2.75 in your overall bachelor's degree program and a minimum GPA of 3.00 in the content field. You must demonstrate, through your application and recommendations, that you possess the temperament and disposition to be an effective teacher.

In addition, your academic transcripts must indicate that you have completed at least one year of college-level study of a foreign language.

Application Procedure: Applications and instructions are available to download on SPD's website at: www.sunysb.edu/spd/MATapp.htm (please note that all web addresses are case-sensitive). You may also call 631.632.7055 to obtain an application packet. Return the completed packet to SPD. A completed packet consists of:
- Completed MAT application with a $50 non-refundable application fee.
- Three letters of recommendation.
- Official copies of all previous college transcripts.
- Official report of scores on the Graduate Record Examination (General Test).
- Immunization Record.

Teacher Certification
While NYSED requires a minimum of 36 credits in the content field in order to be certified, SUNY Stony Brook requires that students must have completed an undergraduate degree with a major in the content field for admission to the MAT program. This major must be equivalent to a similar major at Stony Brook.

Included in the social science credit requirements are at least 18 credits distributed as follows:
- 3 credits in Economics
- 3 credits in American History
- 3 credits in Asian History
- 3 credits in African History
- 3 credits in Latin American History
- 3 credits in European History

In order to be recommended for New York State certification, students must complete all courses required for the MAT.

Note
The MAT consists of at least three semesters of work (excluding summer session) for the full-time student and a somewhat longer period of time for the part-time student. Applications and supporting documentation (including GRE's) for the spring term must be received by November 15; for the fall term, by April 15.

Master of Professional Studies

(HEGIS 2299) The Master of Professional Studies (MPS) is an interdisciplinary graduate degree program in social science and the professions with concentrations in either Human Resource Management or Waste Management. The MPS stresses the application of research and experience to complex social and political issues. The core curriculum focuses on the theoretical structure and methodology of social science disciplines and their application to the professions.

Course of Study

This degree program consists of 30 credits, distributed among the areas listed below. Credit requirements appear in each area or section.

A. MPS Core Curriculum (9 credits)
- 3 credits from Area A
- 3 credits from Area B
- 3 credits from either Area A or B

A. MPS Core Curriculum (9 credits)

Area A Courses

CEI 504 Human Behavior as Rational Action
CEI 505 Foundations of Social Science Methodology
CEN 557 Statistics and Society
CEN 590 Methods of Behavioral Science
CET 555/AMS 576 Statistical Methods for Social Scientists

Area B Courses

CEI 500 POL 560 American Democracy: Its Critics and Defenders
CEI 594 Law and Technology
CEI 596 Seminar on Leadership in Organizations
CEN 580 Assessment of Socio-Technological Problems and Issues
PHI 522 Ethics and Management
MG 520 Ethics in Management (2 credits, applicable when coupled with one-credit independent study)
CES 553 POL 543 Environmental Politics
CER 545 Restructuring Organizations in a Changing Society

B. MPS Project Seminar (3 credits)

Candidates for the MPS degree are required to submit a paper or project that demonstrates the ability to develop ideas and use analytical skills at the master's level.

Prerequisite: Satisfactory completion of the 9-credit MPS core requirement.

C. MPS Concentration (18 credits)

Students choose 18 credits with which to create a concentration in either Human Resource or Waste Management.

MPS Concentrations

Human Resource Management

A. Required Courses (6 credits)
CES 515 / MGT 505 Survey, Human Resources Administration; or CES 523 / MGT 523 Human Resource Management Workshop; and
CES 516 / MGT 506 Survey of Labor Relations

B. Concentration Courses (12 credits)
Students must maintain a balance between Labor Relations and Human Resource Administration courses with at least one course from History and Culture. Your program will be individually designed with your academic advisor.

Human Resource Administration

CEI 585 Principles of Adult Learning
CES 510 / MGT 510 In Addition to Wages: Employee Benefits (prerequisite: CES 515 or CES 523)
CES 511 / MGT 511 Human Relations in the Workplace
CES 513 / MGT 504 New Developments, Human Resource Administration
CES 517 / MGT 527 Women, Work, and Dollars
CES 526 / MGT 526 Job Evaluation and Compensation Systems (prerequisite: CES 515 or CES 523)
CEI 537 / MGT 537 Employee Training - Career Development
CEI 538 / MGT 538 Organizational Change and Development

History/Culture

CES 512 American Worker in Art, Film, and Fiction
CES 520 / MGT 508 Crisis in De-Industrialization
CES 521 / MGT 521 From Bullets to Ballots: History of Industrial Relations in US
CES 522 / MGT 509 Protest Movements in American Labor
Or, a graduate-level course approved by advisor

Labor Relations

CES 514 / MGT 514 Collective Bargaining in Public Sector (prerequisite: CES 515)
CES 518 / MGT 507 Contemporary Issues in Labor Relations
CES 519 / MGT 519 Grievance Handling and Arbitration (prerequisite: CES 516)
CES 524 / MGT 524 Labor Negotiations Workshop
CES 525 / MGT 525 Labor Relations Law (prerequisite: CES 516)
CEI 547 / MGT 503 Topics in Conflict Resolution: Negotiation & Mediation, or Methods and Procedures of Alternative Dispute Resolution

Waste Management

A. Required Courses (6 credits)
CEI 505 / MGT 514 Waste Mgmt. Issues
CES 503 / MGT 536 Environmental Law

B. Concentration Courses (12 credits)
Students must maintain a balance between Labor Relations and Human Resource Administration courses with at least one course from History and Culture. Your program will be individually designed with your academic advisor.

Area C

CEI 504 / MGT 517 Emerging Technology in Solid Waste Management
CEI 505 / MGT 518 Environmental Engineering
CEI 506 Recycling Equipment and Technology
CEI 507 / MGT 521 Ground Water Problems
CEI 512 / MGT 512 Marine Pollution
CEI 532 / MGT 522 Environmental Toxicology
CEI 557 / MGT 557 Introduction to Risk Assessment and Management
CEI 597 / EST 597 Waste Management: Systems and Principles

Area D

CEI 502 / MGT 507 History of Waste Mgmt.
CEI 509 / MGT 525 Enviro. & Public Health
CEI 513 Economics of Waste Management
CEI 594 / EST 594 Diagnosis of Environmental Disputes
EST 596 Environmental and Waste Mgmt. in Business and Industry
EST 595 Principles of Environmental Systems Analysis

To Apply

1. Obtain an application from SPD by calling 631.632.7050.
2. Attend an on-campus group orientation session, at which time all degree requirements will be outlined along with your course of study. To schedule an appointment, call 631.632.7050.
3. Submit the completed application along with a non-refundable $50 application fee at orientation.
4. Bring a sealed official copy of your transcript to the orientation showing that a Bachelor's Degree has been awarded. If you cannot bring your transcript to the orientation, please arrange to have it sent to the School of Professional Development prior to the orientation. If your official transcript indicates an undergraduate cumulative GPA below 2.75, you will be considered for provisional admission. Provisionally admitted part-time students must achieve a 3.00 after attempting six graduate credits (applicable to their program) at Stony Brook. Full-time students (12 or more credits) must achieve a 3.00 after their first semester. If a 3.00 GPA is not achieved as above, students normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.
5. Submit an Immunization Record directly to the Director of Student Health Services within 30 days of your admission.
Advanced Graduate Certificate Programs

Coaching

(HEGIS 0835) Educators interested in moving from the classroom to the playing field are invited to take this State Education Department-approved program. The 18-credit curriculum extends the originally approved 12-credit coaching curriculum to include a 3-credit field study practicum and a 3-credit elective course. The certificate program is offered in collaboration with the University’s Department of Physical Education and Athletics and articulates with the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies through SPD.

Course of Study
This certificate program consists of 6 three-credit courses, distributed among the areas listed below. Credit requirements for each area or section appear in parenthesis.

A. Required Courses (15 credits)
CEP 502 Principles of Coaching
CEP 507 Administrative Responsibilities in Physical Education and Athletics
CEP 513 Care and Prevention of Athletic Injuries
CEP 514 The Study of Human Movement
CEP 520 Athletic Coaching Practicum, Field Study

B. Elective (3 credits)
CEP 500 Sport and Society
CEP 509 Theories of Movement and Dance
CEP 517 Psychology of Sport
CEP 518 Exercise, Nutrition, and Weight Control

To Apply
1. Applications and instructions are available to download on SPD’s website at: http://www.sunysb.edu/spd/AGCapp.htm (please note all web addresses are case-sensitive). You may also call the SPD office at 631.632.7050 to obtain an application.

2. Submit the application and non-refundable $50 application fee.

3. Include with your application an official transcript (in a sealed envelope), which must indicate that a Bachelor’s Degree has been awarded.

4. If your official transcript indicates an undergraduate cumulative GPA below 2.75, you will be considered for provisional admission. Provisionally admitted part-time students must achieve a 3.00 after attempting six graduate credits (applicable to their program) at Stony Brook. Full-time students (12 or more credits) must achieve a 3.00 after their first semester. If a 3.00 GPA is not achieved as above, students normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.

4. Submit an Immunization Record to the Director of Student Health Services.

Educational Computing

(HEGIS 0799) Educational computing is a diversified area of study which is concerned with the design, implementation and assessment of computer-based technologies to enhance education and training. The advanced graduate certificate program was designed to provide professionals in all fields with the necessary expertise to use technological concepts and devices to improve the performance and management of specific systems.

Students in this program focus on one of two professional tracks – education or business and industry.

Two Tracks, Multiple Opportunities.
Students in this program focus on one of two professional tracks: education or business & industry. Experts in educational computing can find employment with:

- Schools and colleges that need highly-skilled faculty and administrators
- State departments of education that seek curriculum developers and technology planners
- Government and public service agencies that require trainers for skills development programs
- High-tech manufacturers that hire experts to develop products for the education market
- Publishing companies that need educational software developers for the mass market
- Corporations that hire skilled professionals as instructors and designers of in-house training programs
- Business and organizations, that are expanding their operations to embrace electronic commerce

This certificate is offered in collaboration with the University’s Technology and Society Program, part of the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences. Courses from this program may also be used to fulfill requirements for the Master of Science degree in Technology Systems Management as well as for SPD’s Master of Arts in Liberal Studies.
Course of Study
This certificate program consists of 6 three-credit courses, selected from the list below. Credit requirements for each area or section appear in parenthesis. Students select either the Business/Industry or School Track.

Human Resource Management

(HEGIS 0516) This program will provide the educational background necessary to make informed decisions in management and policy analysis as related to human resource issues. Designed for private-and public-sector managers, industrial relations specialists, union representatives, human resource/personnel managers, and employee training professionals, this program leads directly to a NYS Advanced Graduate Certificate. Eighteen of the 21 credits may also be used to fulfill concentration requirements in SPD’s Master of Professional Studies program. The program is offered in collaboration with the University’s Center for Human Resource Management and articulates with its Master of Science in Management and Policy.

Course of Study
This certificate program consists of seven 3-credit courses distributed among the areas listed below and at right. For students who are currently matriculated in a master’s degree program, the requirement is six 3-credit courses. Refer to Stony Brook’s graduate bulletin for course descriptions.

A. Required Survey Courses (6 credits)

CES 515 Survey, Human Resource Administration
CES 523 Human Resource Management Workshop
CES 516 Survey of Labor Relations

B. Area Courses (15 credits)

Students must maintain a balance between Labor Relations and Human Resource Administration courses with at least one course from History and Culture. Programs are individually designed in concert with academic advisors.

LABOR RELATIONS

Industrial Management

(HEGIS 0569) The primary goals of this certificate program are to help managers develop their abilities to use advanced technologies in their companies, and to understand their business processes so they can reduce waste and inefficiencies to improve the bottom line of their companies. Graduates of this program will be able to add value to their organizations by understanding the integration of their company's processes, and how to utilize modern tools, techniques and technologies to make their organization more competitive and profitable.

Course of Study

The AGC in Industrial Management consists of 18 graduate credits drawn from the MS degree in Technological Systems Management. There are three core courses: EMP 502 (Management Accounting and Financial Decision Analysis), EMP 506 (Production and Operation Management), and EMP 509 (Management Information Systems). This curriculum introduces the strategic fundamentals of the customer/value driven enterprise, the management concepts of organizational design and structure, and the basic business processes for running an enterprise, including operations, quality, finance, accounting and information systems. Graduates of this program will gain the knowledge required for promotion, career advancement, and to become the future leaders of industry.

A. Core Courses

All three courses must be taken.
EMP 502 Management Accounting and Financial Decision Analysis
EMP 506 Production and Operations Management
EMP 509 Management Information Systems

B. Required Courses

Two of five courses must be taken.
EMP 501 Behavioral and Organizational Aspects of Management
EMP 503 Legal and Regulatory Aspects of Management
EMP 504 Quantitative Methods of Management
EMP 511 Starting the High Technology Venture
EMP 517 Quality Management

C. Elective Course

Select one of the required courses under Section B or from the following list.
EST 520 Computer Applications and Problem Solving
EST 530 Internet Electronic Commerce
EST 581 Methods of Socio-Technological Decision Making
EST 582 Systems Approach to Human-Machine Systems

Operations Research

(HEGIS 0507) The Advanced Graduate Certificate in Operations Research provides students with the fundamental applied mathematics tools for developing protocols for the efficient management of private companies, government agencies and non-profit organizations.

In today's global marketplace, organizations need to be efficient to survive. The Operations Research program will provide formal training in methods of optimization, modeling and statistics used in operations research. The objective of this program is to help individuals assist organizations to make efficient use of their resources so as to maximize efficiency and minimize net cost. Graduates of this program may be able to advance in management and organizational planning positions within their current employment or obtain new employment. It is recommended that applicants to the program hold a Bachelor's Degree in mathematics, engineering or computer science.

The program is offered in collaboration with the Department of Applied Mathematics and Statistics in the College of Engineering and Applied Sciences and articulates with the M.S. in Applied Mathematics and Statistics as well as the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies offered through SPD.

If you intend to pursue the M.S. in Applied Mathematics and Statistics, please refer to the University's Graduate Bulletin for any additional admission requirements.

Computer Support Services

Students in this program are welcome to use the University's Computing Center, the central facility for instructional, research, and administrative computing. All students are eligible for a campus-based computer account and may use dial-up numbers for access from off-site locations.

Course of Study

This advanced graduate certificate program consists of 6 three-credit courses, chosen from the graduate curriculum of the Department of Applied Mathematics and Statistics. There are five required courses in the program and one elective course.

The core courses have been carefully chosen to provide a broad-based background as well as in-depth exposure to the applied mathematical and statistical tools required to be successful on the job-site.

The elective course can be any graduate course in applied mathematics and statistics, management and policy, or computer science, which has been approved in concert with the student's advisor as appropriate.
Required Courses
AMS 507/CET 551 Introduction to Probability
AMS 540/CET 552 Linear Programming
AMS 550/CET 553 Stochastic Models
AMS 553/CET 554 Simulation and Modeling
AMS 576/CET 555/ Statistical Methods for Social Scientists

Complete course descriptions can be found in Stony Brook's Graduate Bulletin under the section for the Department of Applied Math and Statistics. Class dates and times are listed in the Undergraduate and Graduate Course Schedule, printed each semester.

To Apply
1. Applications and instructions are available to download on SPD's website at:
http://www.sunysb.edu/spd/AGCapp.htm (please note all web addresses are case-sensitive). You may also call the SPD office at 631.632.7060 to obtain an application.

2. Submit the application and non-refundable $50 application fee.

3. Include with your application an official transcript (in a sealed envelope), which must indicate that a Bachelor's Degree has been awarded. In addition, you must have a cumulative GPA of at least 3.0.

Students with a GPA between 2.8 and 3.0 will be eligible for conditional admission and will become eligible for regulation matriculation upon completion of 6 credits with a 3.0 or better average. While a baccalaureate degree in natural science, computer science, mathematics, or engineering is preferred, applicants with majors other than above will be accepted if they present specific relevant course background. Students must demonstrate a knowledge of calculus through multi-variable calculus and a knowledge of linear algebra. An undergraduate course in calculus-based probability is recommended, but not required.

4. Submit Immunization Record to Director of Student Health Services.

Waste Management

(HEGIS 0420) This program, designed for professionals who confront the complex problems of waste management and disposal, will provide the educational background necessary to make informed decisions on these often controversial matters.

This certificate is especially important for those who consider access to the most current expertise in waste management essential to working effectively in their careers or public service activities. It is structured to meet the immediate demands for waste management solutions and the more long-range goal of promoting the environmental and economic welfare of the region. The program is offered in collaboration with the Waste Reduction and Management Institute, part of the University's world-renowned Marine Sciences Research Center.

This advanced graduate certificate articulates with the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies or the Master of Professional Studies through SPD. In addition, this certificate articulates with the Master's Degree in Marine Environmental Sciences.

To Apply
1. Applications and instructions are available to download on SPD's website at:
http://www.sunysb.edu/spd/AGCapp.htm (please note all web addresses are case-sensitive). You may also call the SPD office at 631.632.7060 to obtain an application.

2. Submit the application and non-refundable $50 application fee.

3. Include with your application an official transcript (in a sealed envelope), which must indicate that a Bachelor's degree has been awarded.

If your official transcript indicates an undergraduate cumulative GPA below 2.8, you will be considered for provisional admission. Provisionally admitted part-time students must achieve a 3.0 after attempting six graduate credits (applicable to their program) at Stony Brook. Full-time students (12 or more credits) must achieve a 3.0 after their first semester. If a 3.0 GPA is not achieved as above, students normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.

4. Submit Immunization Record to the Director of Student Health Services.

Course of Study
This certificate program consists of 6 three-credit courses, distributed among the areas listed below. Credit requirements for each area or section appear in parenthesis.

A. Core Requirement (6 credits)
CEY 501/MAR 514 Waste Management Issues and the Marine Environment
CEY 503/MAR 536 Environmental Law

B. Area Courses (12 credits)
At least 3 credits must be selected from Area C.

AREA C COURSES
CEY 504/MAR 517 Emerging Technology in Solid Waste Management
CEY 505/MAR 518 Environmental Engineering
CEY 506 Recycling Equipment and Technology
CEY 507/MAR 521 Ground Water Problems
CEY 512/MAR 515 Marine Pollution
CEY 522/MAR 522 Environmental Toxicology
CEY 557/MAR 557 Introduction to Risk Assessment and Management

Post-Graduate Certificate Program

School Administrator and Supervisor

(HEGIS 0828) School teachers interested in pursuing a challenge beyond the classroom are invited to apply for this advanced graduate certificate program, which provides an up-to-date curriculum that can prepare you for such advanced positions as building principal, assistant building principal, department chairperson, guidance department chairperson, or dean of students. The program is offered in collaboration with the University’s Professional Education Program. The educational prerequisite for admission into this program is a Master’s Degree.

Course of Study

This certificate program consists of 30 credits, distributed among the areas listed below. Credit requirements for each area appear in parenthesis.

A. Foundations (9 credits)
- CEQ 501 Educational Administrative Theory I
- CEQ 502 Educational Administrative Theory II
- CEQ 503 Educational Administrative Practice

B. Required Courses (9 credits)
- CEQ 541 School Building Administration
- CEQ 528 School Law
- CEQ 555 Supervision of Instruction

C. Elective (3 credits)
Course may be selected from an approved list in consultation with the program director.

D. Internship and Seminar (6 credits)
Prerequisite: Students must complete a minimum of 18 credits (all foundations and required courses) before enrolling in these courses.
- CEQ 551 Internship in School Building Administration (corequisite: CEQ 552)
- CEQ 552 Internship Seminar (corequisite: CEQ 551)

E. CED 595 Project Seminar (3 credits)
Each student is required to conduct an individual research project on a topic of special academic interest or professional relevance. The topic must be approved by the program director and completed under the direction of a faculty member.

Scheduling Note: The preceding courses are offered regularly during the fall and spring semesters. Although summer sessions will offer most graduate courses that can be applied toward this program, students should plan on meeting course requirements, including internships, during the regular academic year.

Related courses used to fulfill requirements for another certificate, master’s, or other advanced degree may not be used to fulfill course requirements for this certificate. If courses were taken that duplicate courses within this certificate program, appropriate substitutions will be made upon advice and consent of the program director. Under any circumstances, the student must complete the total number of credits prescribed for this program.

Note
Courses in this advanced graduate certificate program can be used to complete some requirements toward the Ed.D. at St. John’s University and the Ed.D. in Educational Administration at Hofstra University.

- CEQ 528 School Law
- CEQ 555 Supervision of Instruction
- CEQ 571 Business Administration
- CEQ 572 School Personnel Management

C. Elective (3 credits)
Course may be selected from an approved list in consultation with the program director.
D. Internship and Seminar (6 credits)
Prerequisite: Students must complete a minimum of 18 credits (3 foundations courses and 3 of the required courses) before enrolling in either course.
CEQ 561 Internship in School District Administration (co-requisite: CEQ 562)
CEQ 562 Internship Seminar (co-requisite: CEQ 561)

E. CED 595 Project Seminar (3 credits)
Each student is required to conduct an individual research project on a topic of special academic interest or professional relevance. The topic must be approved by the program director and completed under the direction of a faculty member.

Scheduling Note: The preceding courses are offered regularly during the fall and spring semesters. Although summer session will offer some graduate courses that can be applied toward this program, students should plan on meeting most course requirements during the regular academic year.

Applying to the Post-Graduate Certificate Programs
You are expected to have a thorough grounding in an academic subject area and must have completed professional courses in teacher education. You must possess the intellectual skills for advanced graduate course work (at least a “B” average in prior graduate studies) and, in an essay to be included in the application packet, must display the interest and ability to become an effective administrator.

Students entering the School Administration and Supervision and School District Administration advanced graduate certificate programs must have the following for admission: a master's degree and a provisional teachers' license with a minimum of three years of teaching, administrative, supervisory, or pupil personnel service experience, excluding civil service.

To obtain an application packet:
Web: http://www.sunysb.edu/spd/SASSDAapp.htm
(Note: Web address is case-sensitive)
Email: SPD@sunysb.edu (include mailing address and program name)
Phone: 631.632.7055
Fax: 631.632.9046
Mail: School of Professional Development, SBS Building, SUNY at Stony Brook, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4310

Submit an application packet which consists of:
1. An SPD application form.
2. An essay (no more than two typewritten, double-spaced pages) outlining your background, goals, objectives, and philosophy of leadership.
3. Three letters of recommendation, at least two of which must be from school supervisory personnel or administrators who have a thorough knowledge of whether you have the temperament and disposition to become an effective leader.
4. An official copy of a graduate transcript which must indicate that you were awarded a Master's Degree.
5. A letter from your employer stating that you have had three years of teaching, administrative, supervisory, or pupil personnel services experience, excluding civil service.
6. A non-refundable application fee of $50.
7. Immunization Record to the Director of Student Health Services.

Applications

Prospective students for School of Professional Development (SPD) programs may obtain applications by writing, calling, or visiting SPD’s main office, which is located at N201 Ward Melville Social and Behavioral Sciences Building, SUNY at Stony Brook, Stony Brook, NY 11794-4310 (telephone 631.632.7050). Applications for most programs are available to download online at www.sunysb.edu/spd/. To avoid delays in processing, you should tend to all application procedures well in advance of the semester in which you wish to begin classes.

Matriculated Status

For information on application and admission requirements for each of SPD’s graduate credit programs, refer to pages 4-17.

If you have academic deficiencies and seek to enter a graduate program, you will be advised as to how to meet admission requirements through prerequisite study.

If your undergraduate transcript indicates you have below a 2.75 grade point average (GPA), you will be considered for provisional admission. Provisionally admitted part-time students must achieve a 3.00 GPA after attempting six graduate credits. Full-time students (12 or more credits) must achieve a 3.00 after their first semester. If a 3.00 GPA is not achieved as above, you normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.

International Student Applicants

Consult with an International Student advisor in the Office of International Services, 2401 Computer Science Building for detailed information or individual advisement (631.632.INTL; 632.4685).

In addition to the application and admissions requirements listed above, students who plan to study in the United States as non-immigrant F-1 or J-1 students must meet the following requirements for issuance of the certificate of eligibility Form I-20 or IAP-66. This form is used for obtaining and maintaining non-immigrant student status in the United States.

English Proficiency. The University of Stony Brook has established minimum English language competency requirements for admission to graduate study and for receiving support as a graduate student. Under certain conditions students may be admitted without meeting the admission requirements, but under no circumstances may a student teach in a laboratory or class until they have demonstrated a proficiency in English.

There are specific requirements non-native speakers of English must fulfill to be admitted to graduate study. A native speaker of English normally learned English as a child and uses English as his or her primary language both at home and in educational settings. All students who are not native speakers of English must demonstrate proficiency in English. These students must submit a TOEFL paper score of at least 550 or a TOEFL computer-based score of at least 213 for admission. All students must declare their native language as part of the admission process. Admission to graduate study for non-native speakers of English is contingent upon satisfactory fulfillment of this requirement. Intentional misrepresentation by a student of his/her native language is academic dishonesty.

Financial Violation. International students who are admitted to a degree or certificate program at the State University of New York at Stony Brook will need to obtain a Certificate of Eligibility Form I-20 or IAP-66 from the university in order to enter or remain in the U.S. in F-1 Student or J-1 Exchange Visitor status. This applies to new students, transfer students from another U.S. university, or to students from another SUNY campus.

A "Request for Certificate of Eligibility and Declaration and Certification of Finances for International Students" form must be completed and returned with the required supporting documentation that necessary funds are available to finance your education and living expenses. This form is available at http://www.grad.sunysb.edu or in the Office of International Services.

Immigration Status. An F-1 or J-1 international student MUST take a full course of study (typically of at least 12 credits per semester), must attend a mandatory orientation program, and must consult with an International Student Advisor upon arrival and BEFORE (1) accepting employment, (2) traveling outside of the United States either temporarily or permanently, (3) applying for a U.S. visa abroad, (4) transferring to another institution within the United States, (5) changing to another non-immigrant or immigrant status (for example: from F-1 to "permanent resident"), or (6) changing his or her major or level of study. To maintain student status, an international J-1 or F-1 student must be enrolled full time and have a valid passport, Form I-94 and Certificate of Eligibility Form I-20 or IAP-66.

International students transferring from other schools in the United States must have their Certificates of Eligibility, Form I-20 or IAP-66 processed for transfer by an International Student Advisor at Stony Brook in order to maintain F-1 or J-1 status in the United States. J-1 students must complete this process before commencing study at Stony Brook. F-1 students must complete the transfer procedure within the first 15 days of classes. All international students are required to attend a mandatory orientation program and must meet with an International Student Advisor within the first two weeks of classes for an intake interview.

Mandatory Health Insurance. For information regarding SUNY’s mandatory student health insurance, contact the Student Health Insurance Office in the West Campus Health Service (Intramural). The phone number is 631.632.6054.

Non-Matriculated Status: Graduate Special Student (GSP) Applicants

SPD represents the University’s (West Campus) non-matriculating GSP students. We are available to help students with administrative or academic problems not related to admission to another department’s graduate degree program. If you have a baccalaureate degree and are interested in taking undergraduate or graduate courses at Stony Brook, without working toward a degree, you may apply for admission as a non-matriculated graduate special (GSP) student.

US Citizens

1. Complete a Student Information Form, indicating that a baccalaureate degree has been awarded. Complete the application form in this bulletin, download from www.sunysb.edu/spd/gsp.htm or call SPD.
2. Pay $15 application fee.
3. Complete Immunization Record and submit directly to the Director of Student Health Service.
4. Submit application and fee to the SPD Office.

International Students

In addition to the procedures for U.S. citizens above, international students must obtain a visa verification form from the Office of International Services (631.632.4685) to submit to SPD.

Also, see page 27 for information on mandatory International Student Health Insurance.
Pre-Medical/Pre-Dental Preparation for Students with Degree

Post-baccalaureate students may take course work at Stony Brook to prepare for careers in medicine, dentistry, or other health-related fields. Under-prepared students (who do not have the requisite math and science courses) may make up these deficiencies by taking undergraduate courses as a GSP. This course work, coupled with the advisement resources of the Office of Undergraduate Academic Affairs (Melville Library, second floor, room E2380) will help prepare you for the application process. If you take most of your required pre-professional courses at Stony Brook, the Faculty Committee on Health Professions will interview you and write a letter of evaluation.

Information: 631.632.7080.

U.S. Veterans

SPF's graduate programs have been approved for the training of veterans and other eligible persons in accordance with the provisions of Section 3675, title 38, U.S. Code. For further information, contact the Division of Veterans' Affairs, Empire State Plaza, Suite 2836, Albany, NY 12223-1551.

Academic Advising

All applicants applying to the MA/LS or MPS program must attend an academic orientation session at the time of application in order to develop a program of study and to review degree requirements. Call 631.632.7050 to schedule an orientation session with an SPD academic advisor.

Once you are admitted to either the MA/LS or MPS program, advisement meetings are available either by phone or in person. To schedule an advisement appointment, call 631.632.7050.

Applicants for the MAT degrees are advised about program requirements by the directors of each MAT program. For advisement concerning the MAT's in English, Foreign Language, Science, and Social Studies, please refer to pages 5-8 for telephone numbers of each program director.

Students wishing advisement at SPD's advanced graduate certificate programs should schedule an appointment with an advisor by calling 631.632.7050. For either of the School Administration certificate programs, call 631.632.7702 or 631.632.7055.

Although you may schedule appointments with advisors as needed throughout your program of study, you are individually responsible for meeting program requirements.

Automated Telephone System

Many student services are available through the voice response/telephone services system at the university. In order to access the options listed below, call either of the following phone numbers and respond to the voice prompts.

From off-campus: 631.632.1100
From on-campus: 2.1100

To access the phone system, a student will need his/her university ID (social security) number and a PIN number (which is initially the student’s six-digit birthdate, but which should be changed and protected after its first usage). Remember to use the three-digit department call number and not the three-letter course designator.

After dialing, the caller will hear the following options for the main menu:

1. Registration. Register for courses; add/drop courses; change course selections; change the Pass/No credit option (undergraduates only); confirm classes (including locations); and change PIN number.

2. Grades. Grades for the previous semester.

3. Financial Aid. Information on financial aid application and award status; general information on grants, federal work study, and other student employment opportunities, loans, and scholarships; code numbers and information on how to apply for financial aid; financial aid transcripts and application materials; and office information, including business hours.

4. Account Information and Bill Payment. Detailed itemization of the current semester’s bill and any outstanding balances; and pay bill via VISA, Mastercard, Discover or American Express.

After pressing the desired number, the caller will receive guidance in making choices through each option.

After all information has been entered, press the pound key (#) to receive a confirmation of your transactions.

STATEMENT OF Student Responsibility

Students themselves are responsible for reviewing, understanding, and abiding by the University’s regulations, procedures, requirements, and deadlines as described in all official publications. These include the Undergraduate Bulletin (and supplements), Summer Sessions Bulletin, SPD Bulletin, Graduate Bulletin, Student Handbook, and Class Schedules.

Students should keep all Stony Brook catalogs and correspondence for reference.
Financial Information

SPD does not provide scholarships or other financial support to its students.

Financial Charges
All fees and charges are to be paid in full or properly deferred by the billing due date indicated on a statement mailed to you after registration. Failure to satisfy financial obligations will prevent you from receiving academic credit, transcripts, diplomas, and certifications, as well as from registering for future semesters. All published fees and charges may be subject to change without prior notice. The TIME OPTION PAYMENT PLAN (TOPP), provided by the Office of Student Accounts, offers the option of paying by installments. Questions regarding any financial matter should be directed to the Office of Student Accounts at 631.632.6175.

Financial Liability
When you register by mail, telephone, or in person, assume you are registered, whether or not you receive a confirmation or bill. You will be held financially liable for your registration unless it is officially canceled through the Office of Registrar or SPD.

Neither non-attendance nor non-payment constitutes official cancellation or withdrawal. Students may request cancellation or withdrawal of registration by calling the automated telephone system during the add/drop period, by writing or faxing SPD, or by obtaining appropriate forms and signatures from SPD staff and then submitting these to the Office of Registrar.

The date you call or submit in-person requests to cancel your registration or withdraw from a course determines your eligibility for a refund. Any refunds are made in accordance with the refund policy.

Outstanding Balances
Students with an outstanding balance on their student account are not eligible to register at the University. No student may receive a degree, certificate of completion or transcript until all charges due to the University or any of its related divisions are paid in full. Delinquent accounts may be transferred to private collection agencies or the New York State Attorney General’s Office for collection, and are subject to additional fees/fines and interest from the collection agency.

Refund Policy
Students who officially withdraw from the University or reduce the number of credits for which they are registered may be entitled to a prorated refund of paid tuition or a prorated adjustment of tuition charges billed based on the following schedule. Fee charges billed will not be removed or refunded after the first week of classes.

All refund requests must be in writing and sent to:
Office of Student Accounts
254 Administration Building
State University of New York at Stony Brook
Stony Brook, NY 11794-1301

The first day of classes is based on the published academic calendar. Students attending evening classes that meet for the first time on the last day of the 100% refund period will have a one-day grace period to withdraw from the class and still be eligible for a full refund.

Withdrawals
A student withdrawing shall be responsible for payment of tuition and all fees in accordance with the above liability schedule. A student can petition the refund policy provided the student has not completed more than one-half of the term and the student will not receive any academic credit for any classes enrolled for that term. The student must submit in writing a request for full removal of tuition charges within one year of the end of the term for which the tuition and fees were incurred.

Cancellations
A student who is given permission to cancel his/her registration shall be responsible for payments of tuition and all fees in accordance with the tuition liability schedule within one year of the end of the term for which the tuition and fees were incurred at the University.

Approved Academic Petitions will not result in removal or adjustments of tuition and fee charges.

To be eligible for financial review, ONLY the following criteria will be accepted:
- Attending another SUNY or New York State Community College
- Military Service

Detailed documentation must be submitted. No refunds will be considered for students who have completed more than one-half of the term.

Dismissals
A student who is dismissed for academic or disciplinary reasons prior to the end of an academic term shall be liable for tuition and fees due for the term according to the tuition liability schedule.

Financial Aid Implications
Financial aid recipients who are withdrawing from the University or changing their status from full-time to part-time must consult with a financial aid advisor regarding the impact of these actions of their financial aid awards. These students are urged to make an appointment with a financial aid counselor by calling 631.632.6840 or by visiting the Office of Financial Aid and Student Employment, 230 Administration Building.

Application Fees
All application fees are paid to SPD and are non-refundable. Fees are subject to change without notice.

Non-matriculated/GSP Application. The fee is $15, payable each time you submit an application to SPD for eligibility to register as a graduate special student (GSP). This payment must be submitted to the SPD office (check or credit card) separate from any other payment to the University. It cannot be included in the collective payment for tuition and other University fees.

Matriculation/Application. The fee is $50, payable at the time you submit an application to matriculate into a graduate degree or advanced graduate certificate program. The fee is collected at the formal orientation required for admission to an SPD graduate degree program, or in the case of the MAT's and advanced graduate certificates, when the application is submitted.

Enrollment Fees
Pay all registration fees and tuition to the Bursar. SPD does not collect registration fees and tuition. Tuition and fees may be charged to VISA, MasterCard, Discover, or American Express. All fees are non-refundable (unless the student withdraws during the first week of classes). All published fees and charges are subject to change without notice. If you have any questions about fees, please call the Office of Student Accounts, 631.632.6175.

College Fee Required of all students.
85 cents per credit part-time (1–11 credits)
$12.50 per semester full-time (12+ credits)

Student Activity Fee
$5 part-time (1–11 credits)
$18.50 full-time (12+ credits)

Lost ID Card Fee
$10

Late Registration Fee
$30 (applicable first day of classes)
Late Payment Fee
A charge of $30 is assessed if full payment is not received by the due date on the bill, up to $90 per semester.

Late Add/Drop Fee
$15—If you obtain permission from SPD to waive academic policies, you will be charged $15 for each change processed by the Office of Registrar.

Mandatory Infirmary Fee
SPD's part-time evening students are exempt from this fee for fall and spring semesters if they are taking courses after 5 pm. Students who take courses before 5 pm are charged a fee of $7.50 per credit (maximum: $75).

Returned Check Charge Fee
$20

Technology Fee
$10 per credit for part-time (1-9 credits)
$100 full-time (10+ credits)

This fee is assessed to all students to address technology needs in computing and information technology, public computer site maintenance and upgrade, and automation of student services. This fee is separate from the technology fee associated with the Electronic Extension Program (see pages 30-31).

Transportation Fee
$4 per credit part-time (1-11 credits)
$40 full-time (12+ credits)

Vehicle Registration Fee
$5 vehicle registration fee required of any new student/staff/faculty member who brings a vehicle on campus. Call 631.632.AUTO for more information.

Fee Waivers
SPD students studying off-campus or online for the full semester may be eligible for a waiver of some fees. The deadline for fee waivers for the spring semester is February 13, 2001. It is the student's responsibility to file all waiver requests by the end of the third week of classes. Visit the Bursar's website at: http://ws.cc.sunysb.edu/bursar

Tax Credits for Higher Education

The Taxpayer Relief Act of 1997, signed into law in July 1997, has provided for the Hope and Lifetime Learning Tax Credits.

The HOPE Tax Credit is available to an independent student or, in the case of a dependent student, to the taxpayer entitled to claim that student as an income tax exemption. This is a non-refundable tax credit available beginning with the 1998 tax year. The benefit amount is 100% of the first $1,000 and 50% of the second $1,000 of qualifying tuition paid within a tax year to an eligible institution of higher education for the first two years of post secondary at least half-time enrollment in a course of study leading to a degree or a recognized certificate.

The Lifetime Learning Tax Credit is available to college juniors and seniors, graduate and professional degree students, as well as adults returning to school. This non-refundable tax credit is available beginning with amounts paid on or after July 1, 1998. The benefit amount is 20% of up to $5,000 in tuition and fees, providing a maximum credit of $1,000.

For both credits, the University will report tax-related information to students and to the IRS.

We suggest that you investigate how this law affects your personal tax liability with your accountant, tax advisor, or the IRS.

New York State Residency

Students interested in establishing New York State residency for tuition purposes only for spring semester must file a petition and supporting documentation with the Student Accounts Office by February 6, 2001.

Graduation

Commencement Ceremonies

There are two University-wide commencement ceremonies each year, one in May for candidates graduating at the end of the spring semester, and one in December for students completing requirements in December. Students graduating in July or August must choose either the May or December ceremonies.

Students planning to graduate in the summer who decide to participate in the May ceremony must apply by the previous spring deadline, which is usually at the end of the spring add/drop period. Students who plan to attend the December ceremony may wait to apply for graduation until the July or August deadlines.

Graduation Application

Submission of a graduation application to SPD is mandatory. In order to receive your diploma, you must submit a formal application for graduation whether or not you attend a campus commencement ceremony. Applications for SPD graduates are available only in the SPD office. SPD students must submit applications to the SPD office by the deadlines printed in the University's academic calendars. The deadline to apply for May, 2001 graduation is February 7, 2001. Those students graduating in summer 2001 must apply by February 7, 2001 if they wish to attend the commencement ceremony in May, 2001.

The deadline for summer graduates who will not attend the ceremony in May 2001 is July 2001. See Summer Sessions bulletin for more details.

Graduation Eligibility

You are eligible for graduation when you have met the published requirements for a degree and/or certificate. To qualify for graduation in any semester, you must have all academic requirements completed by the last day of that semester.

In addition, all SPD degree and/or certificate candidates must:

- Attain at least a 3.00 (B) cumulative grade point average (GPA) for all graduate courses taken at Stony Brook, as well as a 3.00 cumulative GPA for the credits required to earn the degree and/or certificate. Grades earned in transferred courses are not included in any calculation of the cumulative GPA to determine eligibility for graduation.
- Complete all requirements within five years of matriculation.
Policies and Procedures

Transferring Graduate Credits From Other Institutions

Forms to request the transfer of credits or prior approval to do so are available in the SPD office or from the school's academic advisors. These forms must be completed and submitted to the SPD office with a course description and an official transcript after successful completion.

SPD students interested in transferring credits to Stony Brook must adhere to the following criteria:

1. You may transfer a maximum of six graduate credits toward an SPD degree or three graduate credits toward an advanced graduate certificate. These credits must be from institutions authorized by recognized accrediting agencies to grant graduate degrees, and they must be applicable to graduate degree or certificate programs offered by these institutions as well as those of SUNY Stony Brook.

2. Credits must be graduate level and in keeping with the graduate studies offered at Stony Brook.

3. Credits must carry the grade of B or better (B- grades are not acceptable). Pass or Satisfactory grades are not transferrable unless these grades can be substantiated in writing by the former institution as being at least B quality. The grades for credits transferred from other institutions are not included in any calculation of your grade point average or in any evaluation of your academic standing in an SPD program.

4. Credits cannot be more than five years old at the time of your admission or readmission to matriculated status.

5. Credits used to fulfill a requirement for either a baccalaureate or another graduate diploma, certificate, or degree may not be transferred toward an SPD program.

6. Transferred courses cannot be used to satisfy the Liberal Studies course requirements in the MA/LS degree or the Core requirement in the MPS degree. SPD's transfer credit advisor will determine how transferred credits may be applied toward other SPD program requirements.

7. If a transferred course has been determined to have a Stony Brook equivalent, this equivalent course may not be taken for credit toward an SPD degree or advanced certificate.

8. No credits may be transferred from another institution until you have completed at least one graduate course as an SPD student.

9. After admission to an SPD program, prior approval must be obtained from the transfer credit advisor to take courses at another institution for SPD credit.

10. Credits earned through correspondence, travel, or video courses, or credits earned through examination may not be transferred. Credits earned through other specially formatted programs (those that are not offered in a traditional semester-long format) may be considered for transfer provided they comply with all of the above transfer policies. In addition, you must submit a completed Transfer Credit Request form with additional information as follows: a complete syllabus, a list of required text(s) and outside readings, a complete schedule of class meetings (including dates, times, and locations) and the basis for student evaluation.

Credit Limitations

Credits earned as a GSP Student

The maximum number of graduate credits earned at Stony Brook as a non-matriculated student (GSP) that can be applied toward the requirements of an SPD degree or advanced certificate is 12.

Independent Study (CED 599)

A maximum of six credits of any independent study, directed readings, research courses and non-specific seminars may be counted toward an SPD master's degree (the limit for an advanced graduate certificate is three credits), unless specific prior approval is obtained from the SPD Committee on Academic Standing through a formal petition requesting leave to exceed this limit. This petition must be specific regarding the rationale and reason for such a request and have an accompanying letter from the faculty member of record fully explaining the need to exceed this limit.

Credits More Than 5 Years Old

At the written request of returning students, Stony Brook graduate courses that are over five years old when a student is admitted or readmitted to an SPD degree program will be individually reviewed by appropriate department/faculty to determine if they may be applied toward current SPD degree requirements. Grades in such courses must be B- or higher. A course that is both over five years old when a student is admitted or readmitted to an SPD degree program and carries a grade below B- is ineligible for review and cannot be used to satisfy SPD program requirements. Students requesting an individual review of such courses are required to have a cumulative grade point average of 3.00 or higher.

Duplicate Credit

Matriculated Stony Brook graduate students who complete graduate courses in programs other than SPD degrees or certificates, may petition SPD's Committee on Academic Standing to have these courses included in an SPD program provided that the courses had not been used to complete another Stony Brook graduate diploma, certificate, or degree at the same level.

(For instance, students who have completed a graduate certificate in Human Resource Management may not use courses within this certificate for another certificate. Students who complete one master's degree may not use the same credits for another.) These courses must carry grades of B- or higher and be relevant to SPD degree and certificate requirements.

Similarly, courses used for one SPD credential may not be included in another SPD credential earned at the same level.

Workloads

SPD's programs are graduate level, with high expectations and a considerable workload. You should allow at least the traditional three hours of study/preparation for each class contact hour each week. Access to libraries to conduct research is necessary for many courses and should be considered when planning a schedule and curriculum.

Grading System

Graduate students are graded using the following system:

\begin{align*}
A &= 4.00 \\
A- &= 3.67 \\
B+ &= 3.33 \\
B &= 3.00 \\
B- &= 2.67 \\
C+ &= 2.33 \\
C &= 2.00 \\
C- &= 1.67 \\
F &= 0.00
\end{align*}

Neither D nor P/NC (Pass/No Credit) is an approved grade for graduate students. However, the following marks may be awarded at the end of the semester:

I (Incomplete): This is an interim grade occasionally given by instructors to allow you extra time to complete course requirements after the end of classes. You are not automatically entitled to this privilege. Incompletes are usually granted only upon evidence that good cause (serious, protracted illness, for example) prevented completion of course requirements. The granting of incompletes must be approved by the instructor before the end of the semester.

The grade of "I" must be resolved by a deadline set by the instructor or the deadline cited in SPD's academic calendar, whichever comes first. In granting a grade of I, the instructor signifies a willingness to receive student work after the close of the term and to assign a grade within deadlines.

If you receive an Incomplete and do not complete the work necessary to remove it by the deadline set, the I will automatically be changed to a failing grade, "F" (Lapsed Incomplete).
Academic Probation

Part-time students must achieve a 3.00 GPA after earning nine credits as a matriculated graduate student. If, after attempting nine credits, your cumulative GPA is below 3.00, you are placed on academic probation. You may take six more credits within two more semesters. If a 3.00 is not achieved, you are normally not permitted to re-enroll.

Full-time students are placed on academic probation when their cumulative GPA falls below 3.00. If, after being notified in writing of probation, you achieve a GPA of 3.00 by the end of the next semester, you return to regular status. If the GPA is still below 3.00 after one full-time semester on probation, you normally will not be permitted to re-enroll.

Further details on SPD's academic probation policy are available in the SPD Office.

Academic Honesty

The University considers intellectual honesty to be the cornerstone of all academic and scholarly work and views any form of academic dishonesty as an extremely serious matter. Graduate students may be dismissed upon proof of violation of professional standards and academic honesty.

Academic dishonesty includes any act that is designed to obtain fraudulently, either for oneself or for someone else, academic credit, grades, or other recognition that is not properly earned. Some typical examples are:

1. Cheating on an examination by the use of books, notes, or other aids when these are not permitted, or by copying from another student.
2. Submission of the same paper in more than one course without informing the instructor(s).
3. Collusion: two or more students helping each other on an examination or assignment when this is not permitted.
4. Use of rings: sitting in for another student at an examination, or permitting someone else to sit in for you.
5. Plagiarism: the submission of another's work as your own original work without proper acknowledgment of the source.
6. Falsifying documents or records related to credit, grades, change of status forms (e.g., adds and drops), and other academic matters.

Standards of Conduct

The University expects cooperation from all its students in developing and maintaining high standards of scholarship and conduct.

You are expected to meet academic requirements and financial obligations, as specified throughout this Bulletin, in order to remain in good standing. Certain non-academic rules and regulations must also be observed.

The University wishes to emphasize its policy that all students are subject to the rules and regulations of the University currently in effect or which, from time to time, are put into effect by the appropriate authorities of the University. In accepting admission, you indicate willingness to subscribe to and be governed by these rules and regulations and acknowledge the right of the University to take such disciplinary action, including suspension and/or dismissal, as deemed appropriate. University authorities will take action in accordance with due process.

Maintenance of Public Order

The University wishes to maintain public order appropriate for a University campus without limiting or restricting the freedom of speech or peaceful assembly of the students, faculty, or administration. The University has, therefore, issued the University Student Conduct Code, Alcohol Policy, and Rules of Public Order to ensure that the rights of others are protected and to set forth prohibited conduct.

For a copy of this publication, contact the Office of the Student Judiciary, Administration Building, room 347.

Telephone: 631.632.6705.
Exceptions to Academic Regulations
Any SPD student who finds that extraordinary personal circumstances seem to require that an exception be made to any academic regulation may petition the SPD's Committee on Academic Standing (CAS).

Petition forms are available in the school's office. The committee deals solely with academic rules and regulations and is not authorized to rule on requests for waivers on financial regulations. Inquiries regarding financial matters must be addressed to the Office of Student Accounts.

Petitions must be submitted to SPD's Committee on Academic Standing within one calendar year after the course ends.

Grievance Procedures
Resolution of a complaint about alleged unfair or improper treatment involving a course or departmental policy/practice should first be attempted with the faculty member or administrator directly concerned. If that fails, the student should submit a written grievance to the instructor's department head (chairperson or program director) for consideration by the departmental grievance and appeals committee (as specified in Graduate School policy).

An appeal of a departmental decision or a problem that cannot be resolved at the departmental level may be submitted in writing to the Dean of the School of Professional Development for resolution by the School's Committee on Academic Standing, which reports its resolution or recommendation to the Dean.

Address, Telephone, and/or Name Change
Please notify the SPD office of any address, telephone, or name changes so that you will continue to receive registration information, grade reports, and other important correspondence from the University. If you wish to record a name change, the University must see some documentation, such as a driver's license, passport, marriage certificate, court action papers, or social security card for verification.

Registration

Telephone Registration
Students may register by telephone beginning on Monday, November 27, 2000. You may register by telephone from 7:00 am to 11:00 pm each day by calling 631.632.1100. Refer to page 58 for instructions on using the automated telephone registration system.

Office Blocks
If you have office blocks on your records (such as SPD, financial, traffic or health) you are not eligible to register until the situation is resolved and the blocks are removed.

In-Person Registration
Matriculating SPD students may register in-person beginning on Thursday, December 7, 2000. Non-matriculating (GSP) students may register beginning on Friday, December 8.

Regular registration hours are: Monday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, 8:30 am to 4:00 pm. On Tuesday, the Administration Lobby Offices are open from 10:30 am to 7:00 pm. (Summer hours vary.)

At the Office of Registrar (Administration Building, second floor lobby), you will be encouraged to use the telephones in the lobby area to process your registration. Registrar personnel will provide assistance, if needed. At your request, you may receive a computer-generated receipt confirming registration and indicating billing information.

Fax Registration
Continuing SPD graduate students who registered for courses within the last year may register by fax. On a blank piece of paper indicate your name, ID number, name of course(s), number and letters of course(s), and home and business telephone numbers. Fax to 631.632.9045.

Faxedin registration requests must be received in the SPD office no later than December 15, 2000. You will be mailed a bill indicating due dates for mail and in-person payments.

Note: Only continuing SPD graduate students may register by fax. New students must register in person or by telephone.

Late Registration
The late registration period begins on the first day of classes, Wednesday, January 24, 2001 and ends Tuesday, February 8, 2001. A late registration fee of $30 will be charged. You must obtain the instructor's signature on a registration adjustment form only if the class is closed (filled to capacity). Then, you should do the following:
1. Submit your registration adjustment form to the Office of Registrar (Administration Building, second floor).
2. Go to the Bursar's windows and pay current fees and any previous balance. You may charge your registration to VISA, MasterCard, Discover, or American Express, or pay by cash or check.

Since no written permission is required (unless stated in the schedule or bulletin as a prerequisite) for courses with available seats, you may continue to use the telephone system to late register. You will be sent a bill by the Office of Student Accounts.

Off-Campus Registration
Since off-campus courses close quickly, it is recommended that students register as early as possible during Advance Registration using the telephone or in-person registration procedures. Registrations will no longer be accepted at the first class. Directions to each of the off-campus locations are listed on page 60.

Changes in Registration and Withdrawals
Please note that neither non-attendance, non-payment, nor notification to an instructor constitutes official withdrawal.

If you wish to make a change in your registration or withdraw from a course, you must follow the University's and SPD's procedures. Changes in registration or withdrawal does not relieve you of financial liability to the University. Please refer to refund policy and "Tuition Liability Schedule" on page 20.
Cancellation of Registration (Deletion of All Courses)

Before the semester begins and through February 6, 2001, you may cancel (delete) registration from your academic record. The official cancellation date will be used to determine any financial liability (see "Tuition Liability Schedule"). You may also use the telephone system to cancel courses until February 6, 2001 or submit a written request to SPD or the Registrar to cancel registration. Submit a completed withdrawal form to the Office of Registrar to drop courses. If a refund is involved, submit a letter requesting a refund to the Office of Student Accounts as well.

Add/Drop Procedures

SPD students may add or drop courses through February 6, 2001. A Registration Adjustment form obtained from the SPD Office or the Office of Registrar must be submitted to the Office of Registrar for processing, or you may use the automated telephone system. Once classes have begun, you may have written permission of the instructor to add only courses that are closed (filled to capacity). You are advised to register for a substitute course if the course is closed, since there is no guarantee that instructors will sign students into closed courses.

Courses dropped by February 6, 2001, will be deleted from your record. You will, however, be liable for part of the tuition for any course dropped after January 30, 2001. After February 6, 2001, you must petition SPD's Committee on Academic Standing to add courses. See below for withdrawal procedures.

Registering for Maximum Number of Credits

Eighteen credit hours per semester is the maximum load for an SPD student. Students who register for 1-11 credits are considered part-time, and those taking 12-18 credits are considered full-time.

Withdrawal from One Course or a Portion of a Semester's Registration

From February 7, 2001 through March 15, 2001, you may withdraw from courses if registered for more than one. A Registration Adjustment Form obtained from the SPD Office or the Office of Registrar must be completed and submitted to the Office of Registrar. A receipt will be generated showing a W after the course title. The W after the course title will also appear on your academic record. Depending on your withdrawal date, you may request a partial tuition refund in writing from the Office of Student Accounts. Refer to the "Tuition Liability Schedule" on page 20 for information.

After March 15, 2001, you must submit a petition to SPD's Committee on Academic Standing to request permission to withdraw from individual courses. You must also include documentation to explain the reasons for the withdrawal was not processed within the allowed dates and before the published deadline. Written permission from the instructor is also required.

Procedure for Withdrawal from All Courses (Withdrawal from the University)

From February 7, 2001 through March 15, 2001, you may withdraw from all courses that comprise your registration. You may mail a written request to the Registrar or SPD to withdraw from all courses. You may also send a fax to SPD at 631.632.9046 or the Office of Registrar at 631.632.9491 to request withdrawal. Depending on your withdrawal date, you may request a partial tuition refund from the Office of Student Accounts. Refer to the "Tuition Liability Schedule" on page 20 for information.

After March 15, 2001, you must submit a petition to the SPD Committee on Academic Standing to request permission to withdraw from the University. You must provide documentation to explain why the withdrawal was not processed within the allowed dates and before the published deadline. Written permission from the instructor is also required.

Student Online Access to Records (SOAR)

SOAR kiosks are available in the Student Services Lobby in the Administration Building. Academic information, including class schedules, grades, courses in progress, prior course history, as well as student account information, is available. Your PIN is required. SOAR can also be accessed through the web at: https://advising.csun.edu/cwis/dipin.html

Registration in Non-SPD Graduate Courses

If you wish to register for a graduate course other than one having CE in the course designator, you are advised to obtain the appropriate permission. Your failure to obtain permission may result in de-registration from that course.

Registration in Undergraduate Courses

No undergraduate courses (Stony Brook courses numbered 100-499) may be used to meet the requirements for any graduate degree or graduate certificate program. However, undergraduate courses may be taken at the student's discretion.

Registering for Repetitive Credit

Don't register for a course with the same number and title as a course you have previously taken, unless the description clearly states that it may be taken for repetitive credit, or if it is a special topics course whose subtitle is different each time it is taken. Example: CHE 588 Great Traditions in Music.

If you fail a course, you may repeat it. However, a passing grade in the repeated course will not eliminate the original failing grade; both will be included in calculating your cumulative grade point average on your official graduate record. You may elect to retake one course for which a failing grade was earned. If you earn a passing grade in the repeated course, you may petition SPD's Committee on Academic Standing to request an unofficial substitution of the passing grade for the failing grade in the calculation of the cumulative GPA.

Registering for Graduate Courses as an Undergraduate

If you are an advanced Stony Brook undergraduate with a superior academic record and wish to enroll in up to six credits of graduate work, you may be eligible to do so. Permission of the course instructor and either the Graduate School or SPD (depending on which office is responsible for the course) is required. You must discuss your intention to take graduate courses with your advisors and/or graduate program directors to assess whether the credits will be applicable to your undergraduate degree requirements.

Courses numbered 500 or above cannot be used to fulfill distribution requirements or used for certain major requirements. No undergraduate student may register for a total of more than six graduate credits. Graduate courses taken while a student is an undergraduate remain part of the undergraduate record. The exceptions are as follows: undergraduates seeking graduate credit for graduate courses must be enrolled in a bachelor's/master's combined degree program or have been accepted for graduate study at Stony Brook during their senior year.

You must request permission to register for graduate courses, using form SUSB 3065, available from SPD or the Graduate School, and demonstrate you will not exceed the six-credit limit before attempting to register for any graduate or SPD course. Permission is granted by SPD for SPD courses only on a space-available basis during Final Registration week. Present a copy of form SUSB 3065 with all of the necessary signatures, to the Office of Registrar when registering for the course.

International Services
International Services provides programs of orientation to the U.S. and the U.S. system of education for students, visiting faculty and scholars. Each semester workshops and training sessions are also held for University faculty, staff, students and administrators on international concerns. International Services also provides a liaison for students with the community Host Family Program.

International Services is located in the Graduate School, 2401 Computer Science Building. The telephone number is 631.632.9559.

International Services counsels undergraduate and graduate students, faculty and scholars from other countries on U.S. immigration regulations, finances, housing and cross-cultural issues relating to study, teaching and research in the United States. International Student and Scholar Advisors are the Designated School Officials (DSO) and Alternate Responsible Officers (ARO) on campus who are responsible for assisting students and scholars in obtaining and maintaining non-immigrant F-1 or J-1 status in the United States.

The U.S. Fulbright program for graduating seniors and graduate students is administered by International Services. International Services also provides information and applications for U.S. faculty and staff Fulbright grants.

International Services is the liaison with the U.S. State Department for international Fulbright and other sponsored students and scholars at Stony Brook.

Student Health Insurance

Optional Domestic Student Health Insurance

An optional health insurance plan is available to all domestic students, whether in full- or part-time attendance. For more information call or visit Leta Edelson at the Student Health Insurance Office in the West Campus Health Service (Inn), or call 631.632.6054.

Mandatory International Student Health Insurance

For all students on non-immigrant visas, whether full or part-time, health insurance is mandatory. International students are automatically billed to the student's account, and must be paid. SPD students may pay by semester but are liable for the full year's charge unless they have applied for an insurance waiver, and it has been approved. The deadline to apply for a waiver is the second week of classes.

For further information regarding health insurance and eligibility for a waiver application, contact the Student Health Insurance Office in the West Campus Health Service (Inn).

Yes—Parents Are Students, Too (Y-PAST)

Y-PAST is dedicated to dispelling the myth that parenthood prevents people from achieving their highest educational aspirations. Members serve as resources and role models for those new to college or new to parenting, as advocates for improving the quality of life for parenting students, as referral agents to ensure that students with dependents receive appropriate assistance from the university offices, and as sponsors of relevant programs and activities for Y-PAST members and their families. For more information, contact the University Apartments Office.

STONY BROOK STATE UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK
Student Health Information

All Stony Brook students, including those enrolled in credit programs through the School of Professional Development, will be blocked from all registrations if they are not in compliance with Public Health Law 2165, which states that all students born on or after January 1, 1957, must demonstrate proof of immunity to measles, mumps, and rubella. Signed documentation of proof of immunity by one of the following means for each disease must be submitted to the University's Student Health Services:

- Measles: Two vaccines after 1/68 at least 30 days apart, 90 days recommended; or history of disease; or blood titer showing immunity.
- Mumps: One mumps vaccine after 1/69; history of the disease; or titer showing immunity.
- Rubella: One rubella vaccine after 1/69; or titer showing immunity (history of rubella is not acceptable proof of immunity).

Those with a birth date prior to 1/1/57 are exempt from this requirement. However, they must submit a copy of either a birth certificate or a driver's license to document their birthdate.

Students should send or report to the Student Health Service with one of the following:

a. proof of immunity by completing and returning the Immunization Record Form (see below) to the address listed on the form.

b. evidence that he/she has received one immunization and is awaiting the required time between immunizations, i.e., copy of an appointment with a health practitioner (private physician or clinic, etc.).

Students who remain in noncompliance will NOT be permitted to register due to the fact that the University will be subject to a $1,000 fine per student not in compliance. Students not in compliance with Public Health Law 2165 prior to registration will no longer be permitted to attend any New York State institution unless he/she has received a religious or medical exemption or can document that he/she is in the process of receiving the necessary immunizations. No tuition can be refunded and the student will not be able to register for an ensuing semester until proof of immunity is provided.

A limited number of immunizations are available at the Student Health Service or the Public Health Service. You may also obtain them from your private physician. If you have any questions, call the Student Health Service at 631.632.6740.

Imagine...

- having a place where you control time.
- entering a classroom without walls.
- reaching Stony Brook faculty with the click of a button.
- networking with other professionals who share your desire to learn.
- earning degree credit at home, at work, or while travelling.

It's all happening at SPD's innovative Center for Distance Learning, asynchronous learning that takes place entirely in cyberspace.

The Center for Distance Learning offers an opportunity for people all over the world to take graduate courses from SUNY at Stony Brook. Connecting via the Internet, students receive instruction, discuss issues with their instructors and other students, submit assignments, and actively participate in their classes.

Unlike in a "chatroom," classroom discussions are asynchronous; that is, they do not occur in "real" time. This allows you to log on, post a comment, submit an assignment whenever and wherever you wish—at home, at work, on the road—any place that has Internet access.

The Online Advantage

In contrast to their on-campus counterparts, Center for Distance Learning students:

- Receive syllabi with detailed assignments then log on at their convenience.
- Spend more time learning and no time commuting.
- Complete a semester's coursework in just nine weeks.
- Mix electronic and on-site courses for superior scheduling flexibility.

Electronic Extension Program

The Electronic Extension Program (EEP) is the Center for Distance Learning's largest distance learning program, offering 30 courses for Spring 2001. Courses begin later than a traditional semester course. There is an $85 additional communications fee required. Participation requirements are detailed below.

Technical Requirements

You don't need to be a "techie" to get started, just have some basic knowledge of how to use your Internet software. The following is a minimum recommended computer set-up:

- Pentium processor with Windows 95/NT or Macintosh with OS 7.5
- 96 MB RAM
- 56.6 kbps modem
- latest version of a graphical web browser (i.e. Netscape Navigator 4.0 or Microsoft Explorer 4.0)
- Email account
  Please be aware that some public access sites do not have email capabilities.
- Printer

Time Requirements

All EEP courses run for nine weeks, instead of the traditional 15-week semester. For Spring 2001, classes begin on Wednesday, February 28. Because of this compressed format, the workload is heavier—about 6.8 hours of work a week. We therefore recommend that new students limit themselves to one class for their first online semester.

Student Requirements

In order to assure the receipt of an orientation letter (see "Getting Started" below), your student file, which contains your address and phone number, must be up-to-date. If the University does not have your current information, your participation in this program is jeopardized. It is your responsibility to update this information.

Registration

If you are currently a matriculated SPD student or a non-matriculated GSP student, you can register for these courses as you would any face-to-face course (in person or through the Automated Telephone System). There are no special forms or permission required.

Fees

In addition to the regular graduate tuition and University fees, there is an $85 communications fee required for each semester, regardless of the number of classes you take. This fee will not be charged to your student account and must be sent directly to the EEP office. Only checks, money orders, or (off paying in person) exact cash will be accepted. Checks should be made payable to SUNY at Stony Brook, and can be dropped off in room N215 of the Social and Behavioral Sciences Building or mailed to:

Electronic Extension Program
SBS Building, Room N215
SUNY at Stony Brook
Stony Brook, NY 11794-4310

Please note: This fee must be paid prior to the start of classes or your participation in the class may be jeopardized.

Getting Started

If you are a registered student in Electronic Extension Program courses, please note that two to three weeks before EEP classes begin, you will receive a letter containing your user ID, password, and a URL (web address) for online orientation access. If this letter is not received by Wednesday, February 21, 2001, you MUST email the EEP office (see address below).

Note: This information does not apply to SUNY Leaning Network (SLN) courses.

The Electronic Extension Program orientation website contains specific academic policies and procedures for EEP students that differ somewhat from those that apply to traditional students.

Classification of Courses

MA/LS Degree Requirements: The liberal studies courses offered through SPD this semester are listed in this section of course descriptions. Titles and course descriptions are designated by the symbol, ▲. Liberal Studies courses carry a notation of LS and an area designator as follows:

- AVAS for Liberal Studies in the Arts and Humanities
- NSAS for Liberal Studies in the Natural and Applied Sciences
- SB/LS for Liberal Studies in the Social and Behavioral Sciences

For a quick reference of all courses offered this semester, turn to Spring 2001 Courses-at-a-Glance, which begins on page 52.

Prerequisites

Prerequisites indicate the course background expected of students and are listed for the student's benefit. Students lacking a prerequisite who do not secure permission for a waiver can be denied admission to the course.

Room Assignments

Classroom assignments for each semester's courses are listed in the Undergraduate and Graduate Schedule published by the Office of Student Services. This schedule is available before advance registration begins and may be obtained by calling 631.632.1278. Students who register by telephone may also obtain room assignments via the telephone registration system at 631.632.1100. Room assignments are also posted outside the School of Professional Development office. Room N201, SBS Building.

Changes in Course Listings

Students should always refer to the Undergraduate and Graduate Schedule and SPD Bulletin Update that are available from the SPD office. The Update indicates any changes in course offerings that occur after the semester's course bulletin has been printed. Changes may include course additions, closings, cancellations, or changes in the days or times a course is to be given. Students using telephone registration who attempt to register for a course that is closed, canceled, or changed, will be informed when registering.

Students are also directed to the Register's Office website for the most up-to-date information regarding course offerings.

http://ws.cc.sunysb.edu/registrar/reghome.htm

Registration

Returning students may register in person, by fax, and via the Automated Telephone System. Page 58 contains instructions and a worksheet for using the Automated Telephone System.

Complete details on registration procedures can be found on pages 24-25 in the Registration section.

Students will study the developments in astronomy that have contributed to our understanding of the universe. The course will begin with a look at the evolution of major ideas, including the Copernican system, stellar evolution with nucleosynthesis, and the expanding universe, followed by a look at the unresolved issues in astronomy: quasars and energetic sources, black holes, creation of the earth and sun, and the origin and future of the universe.
Note: There will be an emphasis on practical work where students will carry out hands-on activities mostly in class, but also at home
Section 01: M, 7-10 pm, Kenneth Lanzetta

Biological Sciences

Biology and Human Behavior
(202) CEB 553 • 3 credits
The course will provide a robust, but nontechnical survey of the dramatic progress that has been made during the last few years in understanding the biological and evolutionary basis of human behavior and human origins. Students will explore both the many ways in which we are similar to other animals and those few, but important, ways in which we are different than any other animal that ever lived on planet Earth. During this exploration we will find answers of unprecedented rigor to questions about matters as diverse as the course of human history, the nature of our minds, and why we behave as we do. Among the many implications, the vigorous new developments in this area have laid a sound basis for the unification of the sciences, social sciences, and humanities.
Note: Applicable for students in all disciplines

Engineering Sciences
Modern Materials
(214) CEN 575 • 3 credits • NS/LS
This introduction to the fascinating world of modern materials will tackle such questions as: Why do things break? Why are some solids stronger than others? Why is steel tough and glass brittle? Which materials can be used to replace damaged human tissues? What are photonic materials and why are they good for long distance communications? The answers to these and other questions will enable students to become aware of the great developments in this age of advanced materials.

Performance and Technology in Teaching Literature and Composition
(205) CEE 593 • 3 credits
This course will explore the teaching of literature and composition through the use of performance and technology. The use of performance has proven to be an effective classroom tool for several reasons. We will initially focus much of the performance component on the teaching of Shakespeare, looking particularly at the standard plays taught in high school. We will apply performance techniques to other plays, poetry, short stories, novels, and several non-fiction pieces. The course will also explore effective ways to use film, video, and other media as well as computers and the Internet. In addition, throughout the course, we will integrate the four NY Regents tasks with the literature we are studying and compose original assignments for each task.

Special Topics in Management and Policy
(224) CEX 539 • 3 credits
This course examines the features, functions and design of commercially available human resource information systems. It will examine how these features can facilitate the operation and management of the human resource function of an enterprise. The course will focus especially on client server based systems and cover key elements of human resource management including payroll, benefits, and time and attendance as well as support functions such as recruitment and training management. The ability of these products to be customized by the user will be explored. In particular the capabilities of PeopleSoft's HRMS and the features of its software development toolset will be explored. The course does not assume any prior experience with data systems.

Independent Study

Independent Study
(204) CED 599 • variable credit
Students may pursue a specific area of academic investigation through independent study. To be considered for CED 599 Independent Study, students will need to have:

1. completed at least six credits of graduate coursework at Stony Brook and maintained at least a B average in that work;
2. prepared a proposal describing what they would like to do, after consulting with a Stony Brook faculty member who is willing to supervise their work and sponsor their independent study project;
3. completed and submitted an Application for Independent Study, which is available from the School of Professional Development Office. The completed application must be signed by the faculty sponsor and the appropriate department chairperson. It must also be submitted for review by the associate dean of the School of Professional Development four to six weeks in advance of a semester's final registration dates.

A student will be eligible to register for CED 599 when his/her application is approved by the associate dean. An appropriate section number will be assigned at that time.

The maximum number of credits of CED 599 Independent Study that may be applied toward an SPY degree (where appropriate) is six.
Library Studies
The following course is offered as part of an education program for librarianship sponsored by the library faculty at the State University of New York at Stony Brook in collaboration with the Library and Information Sciences Program at CUNY/Queens College. Students interested in an ALA-accredited Master’s Degree in Library Science should consult with CUNY/Queens College at 718.997.3790. For SPD enrollment information, call 631.632.7100.

Introduction to Technical Services

MA/LS and MPS Project Seminar
(204) CED 595 • 3 credits
Students will be given guidance in selecting a specific topic that will become the subject of their project. Simultaneously, they will explore research techniques, identifying library and other research resources on campus and in the community. Students will present a first draft or project feasibility study both orally and in written form to a seminar audience. The project should be completed within the seminar and submitted, according to standards and guidelines established by the School of Professional Development, when determined satisfactory by the project seminar instructor. If the project is not completed within the semester, the grade of U will be assigned, and students will have to register and repeat the seminar in the following term.

Modern Communications: Technology Systems ▲
(209) CEG 511 • 3 credits • NS/LS
The study of basic principles and concepts that underlie the design and usage of modern communications technology systems is the emphasis of this course. All effective communications systems (such as radio, TV, and radar) must be designed to match the capabilities of the human user. An example of good ergonomic design is how a hi-fi system is designed to match the hearing characteristics of humans. The background principles that relate to communications systems include the electromagnetic spectrum and analog and digital signals. The study of communications technology systems will also deal with the human and societal impacts.

To fully understand works of literary art, we must also examine the culture that contributed to the writing and the publication of these works. This course takes an interdisciplinary approach to novels, diaries, and short stories written by Henry James, Edith Wharton, Harold Frederic, Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Kate Chopin, Theodore Dreiser, Sinclair Lewis, and F. Scott Fitzgerald. The worlds of art, music, and architecture, as well as developments in the publishing industry, are examined to see how they influence and are reflected in the literary works we read.

Comparative Study of American Ethnic Groups

This course is an introduction to criteria, distinctions, and categories relevant to studying America's ethnic groups. They include: time of immigration or migration to America, or to mainland America; migrations within the United States; geographic locations and periods of settlement or resettlement in the United States at particular times; political policies of the United States at given times; cultural patterns brought by the groups and evolved among the groups; and variables in assimilation. The history, sociology and political situation of Italian Americans will be compared with those of other selected ethnic groups, including Irish Americans, Puerto Rican Americans, Chinese Americans, Mexican Americans, African Americans, and American Jews within the larger American context from 1845 to the present.

Assessment of Socio-Technological Problems and Issues

The systematic study of a series of studies that relate to current socio-technological problems and issues is the content of this course. Problem areas include transportation, water and energy resources, access for the disabled, artificial hearts, and electronic funds transfer. Emphasis will be placed on the assessment of emerging technological systems and the science and mathematics that underlie these systems.

Restructuring Organizations in a Changing Society

This course surveys several developments in organization and decision theory relevant to understanding organizations in changing societies. We apply basic concepts to a broad spectrum of decision-making activities in various organizational settings, both public and private. We assess suggestions for restructuring organizations and reinventing government. By studying how decisions are made in organizations, we seek an understanding of both the advantages and pathologies that organizations introduce in society.

Locked Out? Try Summer Sessions!

A variety of graduate courses are scheduled every summer — education, liberal studies, project seminar and online courses. For the convenience of teachers, Session I classes are scheduled only at night; whereas in Session II, classes are scheduled during the day and evening.

All students who are mailed this Bulletin will be mailed the Summer Sessions Preschedule in December. The preschedule lists the proposed courses and terms in which we expect to schedule them and is subject to change. This information will also be included in the 2001 Spring Class Schedule. The final summer schedule — including days, times and course descriptions — will appear in the 2001 Summer Sessions Catalog, which will be mailed to students in March. The information will also appear in late January on the Summer Sessions website: www.sunysb.edu/summer

Who Knows Where the Time Goes? ▲    (220) CEV 501 • 3 credits • AH/LS
A look at theories of temporality in the late 20th century, conducted in the hyper-real time and space of the electronic classroom. The online classroom will serve as a phenomenological resource to explore: collective or historical time, consciousness and time, narrative time, musical time, philosophical questions about being-in-time, psychological time, bodily time, analog and digital time, cultural and artistic images of time, Newton's time and Einstein's time, and new modes of time offered by contemporary thinkers.

The Edge of the World: A Concept of Space ▲    (222) CEV 504 • 3 credits • AH/LS
Space is a ubiquitous concept. We speak of personal space, architectural space, outer space, public space, inner space—our cultural denotations and connotations of space are varied. Space has become a prominent metaphor of our time. This course will explore the notion of space via four distinct fields of inquiry: physics, philosophy, psychology, and poetry. Readings will be drawn from texts by Joseph Campbell, C. G. Jung, Stephen Hawking, Fridtjof Capra, James Gleick, Edward T. Hall, Stephen Kern, and others.

Mythical Themes and Archetypes ▲    (222) CEV 506 • 3 credits • AH/LS
This course will focus on recognizing mythical themes and archetypes using the myths of classical Greece and Rome. Students will discuss the presence of mythical themes and archetypes in literature from their areas of specialty and in myths from other cultures. Students will also be encouraged to view films to enhance their understanding of how mythical themes and archetypes contribute to the plot. Emphasis will be placed on writing critical essays using the insights gained from recognizing mythical themes and archetypes.

Writing and Understanding Poetry I    (222) CEV 508 • 3 credits
This course will provide students with a solid grounding in the basics of writing poetry. Students will read collections of poetry by contemporary American poets and will study how these master poets give their work focus, beauty, and resonance both as works of art and as public statement. Students will be asked to write poems in response to the assigned poetry and will be guided in the writing of their own original work. The course will also serve to sharpen students' abilities as readers, writers, and interpreters of poetry.

Themes in Science Fiction ▲
(222) CEV 516 • 3 credits • AH/LS
This course examines some of the major themes and techniques of selected works of science fiction. Although science fiction has been written since the early 1800s, it was not recognized as a distinct genre until the 1930s in America. There is still controversy over the definition of science fiction. In addition, we will be examining works of science fiction that have been made into movies, examining the effects that such mutation has had on the original in terms of plot, theme, message, social implications, etc. We will begin at the probable beginning of the genre with Frankenstein (1818) and end with Johnny Mnemonic (1985). All of the movies are currently available for rental or purchase.

Personal Computers in Learning Environments
(375) EST 565 • 3 credits
This course will provide exposure to and experience with several of the personal microcomputers. These machines, with a cost range of $800 to $2,000, are appearing in schools and other learning environments. The course covers basic specifications and characteristics of several machines, an introduction to the commercial programs available for these machines, and how to use them in classrooms. It is expected that at the end of the course the students will be able to develop a working program that could be used in a classroom.

Design of Computer Courseware
(375) EST 570 • 3 credits
The purpose of this course is to develop in the student the capability to develop computer courseware modules in the student's discipline. Existing courseware modules will be described to illustrate the structure requirements of such modules. After each exposure, each student will select topics for courseware development from his/her discipline and will concentrate on module development under the individual guidance of the instructor. Students will implement the programs in microcomputers in the Laboratory for Personal Computer in Education.

Computer-Based Education Technologies
(375) EST 571 • 3 credits
This course emphasizes the design and evaluation of computer-based educational technology systems. The uses of personal computers, intelligent video disks, games, and other devices in education are examined. Students will learn state-of-the-art technology, contemporary uses, strategies for matching these technologies to the needs and characteristics of learners, ways of introducing these systems into learning environments, and the evaluation of their effectiveness.

Philosophy

Philosophy and Children ▲
(209) CER 519 • 3 credits • SB/LS

With their first questioning, "why?", children challenge us to examine the presuppositions of experience. Their natural tendency to philosophize about words, reality, and morality requires careful nurturing if it is to develop into careful critical reflection. Using the current research and curriculum models of Lipman, Matthews, and others as a guide, we will embark on structured philosophical dialogues with children, coincidentally seeking to reawaken our own wonderment about our world. At the center of our focus will be the tantalizing image of childhood, universally lived and yet mysteriously foreign to the adult. What visions of the world can we share with a child? Philosophy will serve as our conduit into these shared landscapes. In individual research students will have the opportunity to explore historical, sociological, and psychological (as well as philosophical) perspectives on childhood.

Philosophy of Technology: The Uses and Abuses of Science ▲
(209) CER 572 • 3 credits • NS/LS

Has today’s newfound technology been, on the whole, socially beneficial, or has it been detrimental to human life? Take a look at this question by examining such topics as: the nature and types of technological activity; the history of technology and its relation to science; and issues in ethics, economics, and politics. Concepts such as growth and progress, productivity and efficiency, the means-ends relationship, and the “good life” will be explored.

Philosophy and Television ▲
(209) CER 586 • 3 credits • SB/LS

This course will study the construction and conveyance of certain messages (political, commercial, and social) through the public medium of television. We will pay special attention to the rational and logical consistency of these messages, as well as to their place in relation to traditional standards of communication and rhetoric. In doing so, we will explore a number of recent philosophical methods of interpretation, including semiological, psychoanalytic, and ideological forms of criticism. We will also deal with a number of different kinds of content analyses of TV programming, drawing upon works by important contemporary media critics such as Todd Gitlin and Mark Crispin Miller.

The Study of Human Movement
(216) CER 520 • 1-3 credits

Applied anatomy and kinesiology will be discussed in reference to three major topics: anatomic and physiologic fundamentals of human motion, fundamentals of biomechanics, and principles and applications of motor skills. The major topics to be covered in reference to exercise physiology are the following: physiology of energy sources, neuro-muscular concepts, cardiorespiratory considerations, physical training applications, environmental aspects, and nutrition and body composition.

Athletic Coaching Accreditation Practicum/Field Study
(216) CER 520 • 1-3 credits

This practicum is designed for those students (post baccalaureates) who would like to coach a particular sport at the high school level, but who have had limited coaching experience. A variable credit field study program will pair each student with an experienced coach for one season. At the end of the season, each student will be evaluated in the administration and presentation of a coaching program.

The Mystery of Matter: From Quarks to the Cosmos ▲
(209) CER 544 • 3 credits • NS/LS

An exploration of the history and current status of our understanding of the universe, this course will follow the submicroscopic world of the quarks and leptons, from which we are made, to the stars and galaxies. Topics include: techniques to investigate the very small to the incredibly large, forces holding the smallest particles together, and the early history of the universe-the Big Bang. Congress canceled a new facility called the Super Collider and is cutting the budgets for science and space. This course can provide the basis for weighing the pros and cons of investment in big science.

Student Teaching Seminar: English
(205) CEE 590 • 3 credits

This seminar will focus on issues, policies, programs, and problems in teaching English, grades 7-12. Real-life problems encountered by the student in his/her student teaching experience will be discussed. Guidance will be provided in preparing a teaching module designed for the student teaching experience, which will also serve to satisfy the MAT in English project requirement.

Prerequisite: CEE 505, CEE 565, CEE 588 and CEE 593

Section 01: W, 4-7 pm, Andrea Mandel

Note: Section 01 is co-scheduled with EGL 454:01; sections are organized during the first meeting; co-requisites CEQ 591 and CEQ 592; one session is devoted to the State Education Department's requirement for Child Abuse Education; a $20 processing fee will be assessed for issuance of an official statement which verifies satisfactory completion of this requirement.

Supervised Student Teaching High School Grades 10-12: Social Studies
(217) CEQ 581 • 3 credits

Prospective secondary school social studies teachers will participate in a supervised student teaching experience in selected Long Island schools, grades 10-12. The student teacher reports to the school to which he/she is assigned each full school day. Frequent consultation with the supervising teacher helps the student interpret and evaluate the teaching experience. Applications must be filed in the semester preceding student teaching.

Prerequisite: CEQ 577 and CEQ 578; permission of program director, call 631.632.7093; and matriculation in MA/LS or MAT program.

Note: Co-requisites CEQ 580 and CEQ 582; cannot apply toward MA/LS; S/U grading

Introduction to Science Teaching
(870) SCI 510 • 3 credits
This course introduces the pre-service teacher to the requisite skills, culture, and demands of the profession. The pre-service teacher learns to design curriculum, write lesson plans, orchestrate classroom activity, probe student thinking and assess student progress within the context of a pedagogy that promotes an inquiry approach to learning. This course requires one-half day per week of clinical practice with follow-up seminar in the campus Discover Lab, out-of-class meetings with classmates, and periodic visits to local public schools.
Prerequisite: Matriculation in degree (MAT, MS, Ph.D or MA/LS) program; undergraduate degree equivalent to Stony Brook degree in content area as evidenced by 36 credits of undergraduate course work in content area; 2.0 undergraduate cumulative GPA and 3.0 science courses GPA; qualifying writing sample; minimum of 6 science credits within the last five years; course advisement from content area department; permission required, call 631.632.7066

Science Instructional Strategies and Techniques
(870) SCI 520 • 3 credits
This course builds on the pedagogical foundations set in SCI 510 and prepares for student teaching in the following semester. Greater leadership in Discover Lab programs and teaching assignments in local public schools are expected. Emphasis is placed on the integration of theory and practice, extension of scientific inquiry for diverse learners and assessment of student progress within the context of teaching. This course demands an inquiry into the nature of science and the nature of knowing. It requires one-half day per week of clinical practice with follow-up seminars, out-of-class meetings with classmates, and micro-teaching assignments in public schools.
Prerequisite: SCI 510; entrance interview with the Science Education Committee; 3.0 cumulative graduate GPA; matriculation in degree (MAT, MS, Ph.D or MA/LS) program; permission required, call 631.632.7096
Note: Co-requisite SCI 542; additional lab time required

Section 01: M, 5-8 pm, T. Messina

Applied Research in Educational Settings
(870) SCI 530 • 1 credit
This course offers the pre-service teacher the opportunity to conduct original research that will inform future practice. With guidance from the PEP and/or affiliated departmental faculty, pre-service teachers will formulate a question, design a protocol, collect data and analyze within research traditions appropriate to the question.
Prerequisite: Permission required, call 631.632.7096
Note: Co-requisite: SCI 520

Section 01: Hours TBA, Catherine Bennett

Clinical Experience & Action Research: Part 1
(870) SCI 541 • 1 credit
In this course students will engage in weekly clinical practice experiences in campus teaching labs, outreach programs or regional schools. In addition, students will design and implement an action research project.
Prerequisite: Admission to Science Education Program

Section 01: Tu, 2-3 pm, Catherine Bennett

Clinical Experience & Action Research: Part 2
(870) SCI 542 • 2 credits
Within this course students engage in weekly clinical practice experiences in campus teaching labs, outreach programs or regional schools. In addition, students will complete and present their action research project begun in SCI 541.

Awards for Students and Teachers
Hugh J. Cassidy Memorial Award
Named in honor of a former SPD student, this award, administered by the University's Alumni Association, honors a current or former student who can demonstrate that the SPD program has made a significant impact on his/her life, professionally and/or in the community. Self nominations are acceptable, as well as nominations from faculty or staff.
Application forms are available starting in January in the Alumni office, located in the Frank Melville, Jr. Memorial Library. For information, call 631.632.6330.
Deadline for nominations is March 31. The award will be presented at SPD's commencement convocation to be held in May.

President's Award for Excellence in Teaching as a Part-Time Faculty
The purpose of this award is to recognize and reward the contributions that part-time faculty make to Stony Brook.
Deadline for nominations is December 1, 2000. Winners of this award will be appropriately recognized and rewarded at the annual University Convocation.
To obtain a nomination form, call the Office of the President at 631.632.6265.
Supervised Teaching of Science Seminar
(870) SCI 554 • 3 credits

This seminar, which will focus on problems encountered by student teachers and public school teachers at the secondary level, will include study and analysis of science teaching issues, including classroom management, school culture, and social issues affecting the schools and student performance.

Prerequisite: SCI 510, 520, 540, CEE 505 and CEE 565; submission of portfolio and interview with and permission of Science Education Committee; matriculation in degree (MAT, MS, Ph.D or MA/LS) program; completion of any content area deficiencies.

Note: Co-requisites SCI 551 and SCI 552; co-scheduled with SCI 454; one session is devoted to the State Education Department's requirement for Child Abuse Education and Substance Abuse; a $40 processing fee for issuance of official statement verifying satisfactory completion.

Simulation Models for Environmental and Waste Management
(225) CEY 596 • 3 credits

This course is intended for students interested in developing computer models for technology assessment and for environmental and waste management. Concepts developed in EST 595, Environmental Systems Engineering and Analysis, will be applied to real-world problems. Techniques in model development will be presented in the context of applications in surface and ground water management, acid rain, and health risks from environmental contamination.

Prerequisite: EST 595
Note: Crosslisted with EST 596

Section 01: M, 7-10 pm

Production and Operations Management
(375) EMP 506 • 3 credits

This course is a managerial approach to the concepts, issues and techniques used to convert an organization's resources into products and services. Topics include: strategic decisions for planning products, processes, and technologies, operating decisions for planning production to meet demand, and controlling operations through the use of teamwork and Total Quality Management (TQM). Operational problems in producing goods and services are reviewed.

Prerequisite: EMP 504 or permission of instructor
Note: Crosslisted with MGT 589

Section 02: M, 6-9 pm
Herb Schiller

Management Information Systems
(375) EMP 509 • 3 credits

This course covers the flow of data in industrial and governmental organizations; how information is stored, analyzed, and disseminated for various management tasks; physical and logical organization of computer data processing systems; principles of file processing, database management, and information systems design.

Note: Crosslisted with MGT 517

Section 02: W, 6-9 pm

Quality Management
(375) EMP 517 • 3 credits

Modern management's approach to quality has changed radically in the last 20 years; this course explains why and how. It covers methods used by both manufacturing and service organizations to achieve high quality; how each organizational function is involved in quality; how improving quality can reduce costs; importance of communication; importance of involving all employees; need to measure quality; and introduction to statistical quality control and how it is used.

Section 01: Th, 7-10 pm

Personal Computers in Learning Environments
(375) EST 565 • 3 credits

This course will provide exposure to and experience with several of the personal microcomputers. These machines, with a cost range of $800 to $2,000, are appearing in schools and other learning environments. The course covers basic specifications and characteristics of several machines, an introduction to the commercial programs available for these machines, and how to use them in the classrooms. It is expected that at the end of the course the students will be able to develop a working program that could be used in a classroom.

Teaching Whole Language Through Acting Techniques
(201) CEA 586 • 3 credits
This course will examine how Stanislavski's codified system of acting allows the student reader/writer and the actor to approach the text in a systematic and consistent fashion. Acting techniques, both amenable and motivational to the student reader/writer, will parallel many objectives found in reading and writing. The course will promote education in concentration, the senses, imagination, physical self, emotion, and the intellect to introduce the student reader/writer to better communication skills. A process that improves the actor's instrument will be explored to heighten the communication skills of the reader/writer.

Waste Management

See Technology and Society
Waste Management Issues
(225) CEY 501 • 3 credits
This course will address the overall problem of waste management with a particular emphasis on problems confronting Long Island. Sewage treatment and solid waste disposal will be discussed. Case studies concerning ocean dumping, fishkills, beach pollution, and brown tide will be presented. Other topics will include recycling and remedial measures. A sewage treatment plant and landfill will be visited.

Note: Crosslisted with MAR 514
Section 01: Tu, 5:30-8:30 pm
R. Lawrence Swanson

Environmental Engineering
(225) CEY 505 • 3 credits
This course will discuss the various aspects of environmental engineering—solid and hazardous waste, water resources and air pollution control. Although the course will be technologically oriented, applicable laws and regulations will also be reviewed. The material will focus on the metropolitan New York City area, with an emphasis on Long Island problems. Field trips are planned as part of this course.

Prerequisite: Some science background preferred and permission of instructor, call 631.632.8714
Note: Class begins 1/21 ends 3/31; no class 2/17; crosslisted with MAR 518
Section 55: Sa, 1-5:10 pm, Albert Machlin

Environment and Public Health
(225) CEY 509 • 3 credits
This course will provide an overview of man's environment and health relationships, as well as practical background for those working in environmental disciplines. It starts with an introduction to the field of environmental health, especially as it has developed in New York State and, in particular, Long Island, followed by a review of those environmental conditions that foster transmission of communicable diseases and exposure to toxic chemicals and hazardous physical conditions. Environmental and public health practices on Long Island, with an emphasis on groundwater and wastewater handling and means of their control, will be reviewed.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor, call 631.632.8714
Note: Crosslisted with MAR 525
Section 01: W, 6-9 pm, James Pim

Business of Waste Management
(225) CEY 513 • 3 credits
This course covers selected economic concepts as they are related to waste management. Topics discussed include the interrelationship of supply and demand, consumer behavior, budget constraints, exchange and welfare, market classifications from pure competition to monopoly, principals of production, resource distribution and profit maximization.

Note: Class begins 1/27 ends 3/31; no class 2/17

Telephone Registration

To Register by Phone  Telephone lines are open Monday–Sunday, 7:00 am – 11:00 pm through the end of late registration.

1. Review the sample worksheet below, noting all required information. Each course has a 3-digit department call number which corresponds to a 3-letter designator.
2. Choose courses and write required information on sample worksheet below.
3. Call the following telephone system number:

FROM OFF-CAMPUS: 631.632.1100

FROM ON-CAMPUS: 2.1100

4. Touch "1" to identify yourself as a touchtone caller.
5. Touch "1" to choose the Registration menu.
6. Enter your Stony Brook ID number, which is usually your Social Security Number. If you use an assigned ID number beginning with USB, enter "8-7-2" followed by the rest of your assigned number. If you use an assigned number beginning with FOR, enter "3-6-7" followed by the rest of your assigned number.
7. Enter your Personal Identification Number (PIN). Your PIN is a six-digit number initially based on your date of birth. For example, if your date of birth is February 29, 1972, your assigned PIN is 022972.
8. If you are not eligible to register, you will hear instructions relating to your particular situation.
9. Remember to use the department numbers, NOT the three-letter course designators.
10. Once the system recognizes that you are eligible to register, you will be asked to touch:
   - "1" to register
   - "2" to add courses
   - "3" to drop courses
   - "4" to change sections within a course
   - "5" to add or remove Pass/No-credit option (undergraduate students only)
   - "6" to hear confirmation of your semester program with meeting times and classroom locations when available
   - "7" to change Personal Identification Number (PIN)
11. After all the information has been entered, press the pound key (#) to receive a confirmation of your transactions.

Note on Dropping Courses
If you wish to drop all of your courses or your only course, you may use the telephone system only during the add/drop period. After the add/drop period you may file a Withdrawal from the University Form in person, or request this option by mail or fax: 631.632.9491.
