All The World Will Be Jealous Of Me

Lyric by
AL. DUBIN

Music by
ERNEST R. BALL

Moderately with expression

I was jealous and hurt When your lips kissed a rose, Or your eyes from my own chanced to stray; I have tried all in vain Many times to propose, Now at last I've found courage to say:

Let's suppose that the lips I found kissing a rose Were to tell me to look in your eyes, If I'd find there a light that for me only glows, More and more would my heart realize:

REFRAIN Tenderly

The roses all envy the bloom on your cheek, And the sun even

ANOTHER IRISH GEM

You Brought Ireland Right Over To Me

REFRAIN Tenderly

Sure the light in your eyes, Is the blue of the skies, On your cheeks bloom the wild Irish rose, Sung everywhere, played everywhere en-vies your smile; The birds in the wild-wood are stilled when you speak. Their songs don't seem half worth the while. The light in your eyes makes the bright stars grow pale. They're jea-lous as jea-lous can be;

But when one word or sign tells them all you are mine, All the world will be jea-lous of me! The me!
