

My Past Life

By: Ambrosia L. LaBombard

I've lived in lies and all the sad goodbyes
That life can throw at you,
Oh, I've dreamt of better days and the Fictional always
That was promised to me.
Yes, I've lived and loved in the shadows of yesterday
And I've played in the gardens
Where children say,
I'll love you for all my life.
Oh, I've sank in desire and despair.
And, it tears then repairs
It hates you but cares,
Killing you all the time