

The Pirate's Song

By John H. Reheuser

Oh, I was once a pirate man,
In the play of "Peter Pan".
Oh, we were such a motley crew,
That ever sailed the ocean blue.
We were a little ragged band,
In the play of "Peter Pan".

Oh, Hook was our captain 'cause
He was the only smart one.
The rest of us were dumb as rocks,
Attired in our mis-matched socks.
So Hook was our leader man,
In the play of "Peter Pan".

And then there came the final fight.
The Little Boys gave us a fright.
They vanquished us, quick as a wink,
And then they pushed us in the drink,
Oh, Peter Pan had a better plan,
That's why the play's called "Peter Pan"
