Moderato

I saw a man whose hair was
And then I heard the baby silver With a girl whose hair was gold,

And I know they loved each other,
Tho' the whisper, "Daddy, I don't understand," Mam-ma says a big stork brought me

All the way from far-off Baby Land,
And grand-ma says the doctor found me,
Some one must be wrong,

I heard the baby ask her daddy
In her wistful baby way,

"Daddy, tell me where I came from?"
Then I heard the Daddy say:

"Daddy, know?"
Then the Daddy said, "They're wrong, dear, Daddy found you long ago:"

The angels heard me wish for someone like your mother, And then they turned my wish into an image of her, They brought you to our garden wall,

Tucked in a basket like a doll, And as you peeked out to the skies two stars fell in your eyes; And by the way you bribe your Dad with smiles and kisses Shows you have your mother's manners one and all And tho' you're small, you're growing like a weed, But Daddy knows you really are a rose, For Daddy found you down beside the garden wall.

CHORUS

'Cause when the cold wind does blow— with its ice— and its snow— Then your heart soon will melt— for each sorrow I have felt,— And when your friends turn a way— time will prove— what I say— Now's your time
