Larghetto

Thou art the soul of a summer's day,

Con Pardelle

Thou art the breath of the rose; But the summer is fled and the rose is dead; Where are they gone, who knows, who knows?

never miss the blossoms, until the spring has gone. We never miss our joyousness, till sorrow bids us wake. We never know we have a heart, till it begins to break.

Vivace, con furia.

Dear love, bring back the sunshine, My bitter words forget. Bring back the old time happiness, my eyes with tears are wet. Bring back the birds soft singing, Dear.

A PRACTICAL PIANO COURSE FOR BEGINNERS
By EDUARD HOLST

This work starts the pupils at the very beginning and carries them by easy stages, step by step, to the early third grade music. The technical explanations are most easy to understand, and never does this course of instruction become tiresome to the student. At every opportunity the composer has inserted a recreative melody, rather than a tedious exercise.

CONCENTRATION AND TECHNIC
IN FOUR VOLUMES
By LOUIS STILLMAN

In order to become an accomplished pianist it is necessary to have perfect control over the muscles of the fingers. The exercises contained in "CONCENTRATION AND TECHNIC" have been constructed mainly for that purpose, and if systematically practiced cannot help but bring the necessary result.

The work faithfully lives up to its title, for it has a mental and muscular influence on the mind and fingers which encourages confidence and ease in playing in any key and scale.

FINGER PRACTICE
IN THREE VOLUMES
By RAFAEL SAUMELL

The product of practical experience and the only work with a laudable mission on the market, i.e., to give the muscles of each finger the necessary agility to properly execute all intricate passages with apparent ease.

The flattering testimonials received from pedagogic authorities prove that these books are destined to become thumb-marked volumes in every ambitious student's library. The exercises for the passing of the thumb are an acquisition in itself. Mechanically they represent the greatest excellence in engraving and printing, the very best material being used throughout.
