IN THE BALLROOM GRAND

The Charming Favorite

FREDERICK COPE

PUBLISHED BY
North American Music Co.
59 West 28th Street
New York
In The Ballroom Grand
By FREDERICK COPE

Mod'to

I stood once in a ballroom grand.
She was thinking of her lover Who had mid a happy throng; Some were softly singing As the proved himself so false, Near the eve of her wedding; His wrongs couples glided on, My thoughts turned toward one young girl; She was had changed her course, He once did smile upon her, His

the belle of the ball, She seemed sweet and happy, Th'o' her smiles were forced, for all.
presence made her gay, But now he's gone and left her To pine a way.

Copyright MCMVII by Frederick Cope.
CHORUS

The music sounds so sweetly as the dancers waltz around,

The air was filled with fragrance from the flowers of the town;

Diamonds flashed their brilliancy out of the ladies hair,

But there was one sad heart among them, from dull and bitter care.