Music by ARTHUR FARWELL.

1. A hundred years from now, dear heart, We shall not care at all,
It will not matter then a whit, The honey or the pain,
The throbbing crimson tide of life Will not have left a gall.
The summer days that we have known Will all forgotten stain.
The song we sing together, dear, The dream we dream to.

he and flown; The garden will be overgrown Where geth-er here, Will mean no more than means a tear A now the roses fall. 2. A rain.

3. A hundred years from now, dear heart, The grief will all be o'er; The sea of care will surge in vain Upon a careless shore. These glasses we turn down today Here at the parting of the way; We shall be wineless then as they, And shall not mind it more. 4. A hundred years from now, dear heart, We'll Neither know nor care What came of all life's bitterness Or followed love's despair. Then fill the glasses up again, And kiss me through the rose-leaf rain; We'll build one castle more in Spain And dream one more dream there.
