SUBJECT: Changes in the Women's Studies Minor

The Women's Studies Curriculum Committee recommends changes in the academic requirements for the minor in Women's Studies.

~~Old Requirements: At present, the minor consists simply of the student's choice of six courses from the list of Women's Studies electives.~~

Now Requirements:

A. Nine hours in the three core WMS courses; descriptions are attached:

WMS 101, "Introduction to Women's Studies" (3 hours)
WMS 301, "Feminist Theory" (3 hours)
WMS 401, "Senior Seminar in Women's Studies" (3 hours)

B. Nine hours of Women's Studies electives, chosen by advisement. At least one of the courses must be an upper-division course. A list of Women's Studies electives is attached.

C. Half of the credits for the minor must be taken at Brockport.

Justification:

With no required courses the minor at present lacks a coherent core and a logical and meaningful progression of study. The proposed changes will provide the student the following:

- a) an introduction to the discipline, its methodologies, and its theoretical underpinnings.
- b) a cohesive program of study that ensures both breadth and depth.
- c) an integrative capstone experience at the minor's end.

Please let me know if you need further information. Thank you for your attention.

Description of WMS 101, "Introduction to Women's Studies"

An introduction to Women's Studies, to its perspective, and to its interdisciplinary nature. Using several disciplines, the class will examine women's position in culture and society and will explore the genesis, the development, and the impact of our culture's assumptions about women's nature and women's roles.

Description of WMS 301, "Feminist Theory"

An advanced, interdisciplinary, and multicultural introduction to the main traditions of feminist theory, to the impact of recent feminist theory on a variety of disciplines, and to feminist theory as applied to various issues in society and culture.

Description of WMS 401, "Senior Seminar in Women's Studies"

An integrative, interdisciplinary, and multicultural course providing advanced study of a significant topic in Women's Studies; this capstone seminar provides students the opportunity to think critically and analytically about women's lives, experiences, values, and contributions, and to produce a well-reasoned seminar paper.
