FACULTY FACTS AND STAFF STUFF

for week of October 12-18

Dean Chambers will be in Hamilton Ontario, on Friday and Saturday for a discussion of year-round operation at an American Society of Engineering Education conference at McMaster University. This trip will follow a speaking appearance on Thursday at the Northern Zone Pennsylvania Teachers Association meeting in Montrose. He will talk on "The Place of Technical Education in the Total Program of Education."

Dean Reynolds will address the Deposit Rotary Club at noon on Monday, speaking on community colleges. Then on Friday and Saturday he, Red Newton and Jim Kalbaugh will attend a conference on Two-Year College Articulation conducted by the State University of NY in Albany.

All faculty members are welcome to attend the first meeting of the new school year of BAASPS (Binghamton Area Association of Student Personnel Services). The meeting is set for Wednesday evening at IBM, and anyone interested in attending is advised to contact Dick Powers in the Student Personnel Office here. Dick is the secretary of the association.

Harvey Roehl, Ralph Holloway and Ed Dougherty attended the second State University computer conference at Stony Brook, L.I., earlier this month.

Roxie Stitzer will be the guest speaker at a dinner meeting of the Chemung County Dental Society on Tuesday evening at the Mark Twain Hotel in Elmira.

Lloyd Hartman will attend a conference Tuesday morning at State University at Cortland. The conference is sponsored by the Bureau of Teacher Education of the State Education Department.

George Elliott was one of the instructors in the Broome County Law Enforcement Officers Training School last week. His topic was "Human Relations in Police Work."

Toni Gregg will attend a planning committee meeting at the New York City Department of Education on Thursday and Friday. The committee is planning a program for the New York State Audio-Visual Council, which will meet in November in New York.

Ed Dougherty reports that the Computer Center was used for three days last week as the center of activity for a seminar conducted by Link Division of General Precision, Inc. This was a management decision making seminar for Link executives, and plant managers were grouped in teams in a downtown hotel where they made their decisions on the problems involved.

These decisions were forwarded to the computer center at the college three times daily, and their effects analyzed by the computer. The interplay of marketing, sales, research, depreciation and taxes on gross profit were the output of the computer program, and subsequent decisions were then made, based on the computer results. These decisions were again forwarded to the computer center, and the interplay continued.

Faculty members are invited to join the New York Southern Tier Geology Club, which will meet Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Harpur College Science Building, first floor. The club welcomes beginners and experts. Stewart Purdy of Ansco will talk on rock-forming minerals (quartz) Monday, and next month's meeting will have John Albanese, world famous author, lecturing on Franklin Jersey minerals.

We have been asked to inform faculty members that Miss Alna Keen, registrar of State University at Fredonia, passed away during the summer. She had been associated with the college for 30 years.
