Thank you for your card, [ed. note: printed version given to Chris on Tuesday] which I am taking to Iraq, good thoughts, and best wishes. I'll try to bring back an interesting report and photos. I hope everyone has a joyful and safe holiday season. I'll see you in January.

Chris

Dear Chris,
Have a safe trip!

While you are driving on the roads of Iraq
don't hit any land mines, Iraqui's, or cobras.

Enjoy eating the mideastern cuisine, selecting books for the libraries there, and perhaps finding relics at archaeological sites.

See you soon!
Best wishes,
Melville Library Staff

THOMAS JEFFERSON AWARD:

This year's winner has been chosen from among many areas represented. We are pleased to congratulate Jeanelle Thorpe who was recommended by Hanne (Giordano) Tracy. Jeanelle hopes to continue to work in Circulation Services until she graduates next December as a double major (Biology and Theatre Arts). Her long term goal is to become a trauma surgeon. Besides maintaining a 3.2 GPA and working at the library, Jeanelle works in the first aid station at a summer camp and she completed a course to give first aid/CPR instruction - all this while having her godmother as her immediate family. She will receive $1,260.00 towards tuition and college expenses for spring 2004.

Thank you to all who nominated students!

STAFF WINE AND CHEESE PARTY:

Just a reminder to let Jeanne or Liz know by December 12th that you are coming and can bring an appetizer or bottle of wine . Also, let Maryanne know if you have an item that represents a holiday custom or tradition . It will be interesting to look at all the ways we celebrate during this season .

HEY, CULLIGAN MAN:

Every two weeks our water carrier is supposed to check for pickup of empties and drop off needed water. He will give you a receipt; just keep it in an envelope in case there is a discrepancy in the bill that is sent to Linda in Library Administration. Each area has a contact who can take care of keeping the receipts for the fiscal year. The Director's Office is not collecting receipts for all areas.
