Proposal

for

A Program: B.S. in Political Science or Sociology

(Police Administration Program)

Submitted by:
John C. Crandall
Assoc. Dean
Faculty of Social Sciences

November 1, 1969
(Revised November 18, 1969)

Introduction

The crucial need for broadly-educated law enforcement officials is so palpable that general elucidation would be superfluous. The obligation to provide a broad liberal arts base and strong disciplinary specialization (an academic major) for persons pursuing professional careers is explicitly accepted as the mission of the College and expressed in our academic policies. These considerations are applicable to the preparation of prospective police administrators and this proposal is in response to the perceived need and the request of the community colleges and concerned public officials to design an upper division B.S. degree program for students completing the two-year police science curriculum (A.A.S. degree).

The proposed program has been developed in consultation with members of the social science faculty (including all of the Department Chairmen and the Associate Dean), the undergraduate and graduate deans, the Vice President for Academic Affairs, the President of the John Jay College of Criminal Justice, the appropriate administrators at Monroe Community College and law enforcement officials.

Two agreed-upon guidelines were established and followed in the program's formulation:

1. An upper division curriculum built on a two-year foundation heavy in technical studies must place strong emphasis on broad liberal education and an in-depth academic major.

should be handled within the framework of existing curriculum patterns and regulations.

II. The Patterns

The proposed program leading to a B.S. degree in police administration has the following essential features:

1. Minimal eligibility to the upper-division phase--to be offered at Brockport--is the A.A.S. degree in police science from a State University Community College.
2. Transfer credit will be awarded in accordance with the following pattern: 30 semester hours of the professional sequence to be applied to a professional minor; up to 30 semester hours of the remaining courses applied to the distribution core and to undistributed electives as appropriate (see model program).
3. The constituent elements of the upper-division phase--a minimum of 60 semester hours at Brockport--are as follows:
 - a. Completion of the distribution core courses
 - b. Completion of a major either in political science or sociology
 - c. A police administration senior seminar
 - d. Electives by advisement

Strongly recommended that these be selected from Political Science if Sociology is the major and from the following list of suggested courses.

Most appropriate would be courses in the areas of legal and administrative, urban affairs, and deviant behavior.

(1) Legal and Administrative

PLS 322 Constitutional Law II
PLS 318 American State Government
PLS 312 Public Administration
SOL 401 Sociology of Complex Organizations
SOL 442 Industrial and Occupational Sociology

Upper Division (3rd and 4th Years at Brockport) -- 3

(2) Urban Affairs

PLS 319 Urban Politics in the U.S.
PLS 418 N.Y. State and Local Government
SOL 301 Racial and Ethnic Minorities
SOL 433 Urban Sociology

(3) Deviant Behavior

PSH 334 Abnormal Psychology
PSH 332 Social Psychology
SOL 331 Self and Society
SOL 322 Deviance and Social Control
SOL 425 Juvenile Delinquency

III. Rationale

It should be stressed that this proposal is consistent with current curriculum policy of the State University College at Brockport and State University of New York. At the same time it makes available a real opportunity for those graduates of the police science curriculum who have the aptitude and aspiration for a rigorously academic upper-division program and a career in law enforcement administration. This opportunity is rooted in the recognition of the professional sequence in police science, the senior seminar in police administration taught by a recognized authority and practitioner, and the relevant electives by advisement in the legal and administrative area, urban affairs and deviant behavior. In addition liberal arts major) are insured.

IV. Institutional capability

A. The requirements of the upper division phase fall within the scope of the present offerings of the institution with the exception of the Senior Seminar in Police Administration. Thus the only additional special personnel needed is an authority/practitioner to teach that seminar. Such a person will be appointed on a part-time basis.

B. Library Holdings

No special materials beyond those necessary to support present offerings are required except those needed for the Senior Seminar. Special consideration will be given to these particular needs in the next requests of the social science faculty. Arrangements for the loan of special materials relating to police science and police administration will be made with Monroe Community College.

C. Facilities--Space etc.

No special facilities are necessary to implement this program.

V. Illustrative model program (see next sheet)

VI. Academic Advisement

Students applying for this program will be referred to the Office of the Associate Dean of the Social Sciences for advisement.
