Fall Semester, 2012

DEPARTMENT OFFERS NEW BRIDGE AND CAS PROGRAMS

The Department of Counselor Education is proud to announce new programs being offered to students. The first program, a mental health “bridge” program, allows students either in the school or college emphasis to take 12 additional credit hours to become eligible for licensure as a mental health counselor, according to department chair Tom Hernandez. The required credit hours include Diagnosis & Treatment Planning, Counseling in Mental Health Settings, and a two-semester internship at a mental health site (Implementation I and II). The good news for students is that the department does not require that students in the bridge program prepare another research-based thesis. Students are also able to bridge from mental health to college or school counseling by taking Counseling in School Settings or Counseling in College Settings and a two-semester internship. Additionally, the Certificate of Advanced Studies program for school counselors who need to complete 12 credits for permanent New York State certification is now offered on line as well as in the classroom. Web pages are currently under development at the Department website that will have further information about the bridge and CAS programs. In the meanwhile, please contact your advisor or call the Department at (585) 395-2258.

INTEGRATION STUDENTS HELP BROCKPORT COMMUNITY HEALTH

As the tragedy began to unfold on the Brockport campus surrounding the death of freshman student Alex Kogut, students in the Department of Counselor Education’s Integration class were called upon to offer support to the grieving campus community.

Integration students were asked to come to the campus on October 1, the night of the campus-wide vigil for Alex.

Students provided on-site grief and crisis counseling to some of the nearly 1,000 students, faculty, and staff who gathered to mourn in the Student Union Ballroom.

According to Dr. Summer Reiner, Integration instructor, the practicum students performed professionally as they mingled and had therapeutic conversations with students and others of The College at Brockport community. Great work Integration students!

CHAIR'S NOTE

Exciting things continue to happen for the Department of Counselor Education, and so I am pleased to report on these here.

One of the most interesting innovations we are rolling out in the Spring 2013 semester is the implementation of Tk20, a web-based assessment tool where students can submit assignments, receive feedback about your progress in an individual course and across the program, and develop and maintain portfolios of your work. The test run of this software was implemented in several courses this Fall 2012, and admittedly, it was not without hiccups. This is the part of my note where I say “be patient.” Please be patient (see?) as we accustom ourselves to this software and explore its value as we move throughout the Spring 2013 semester: This will improve over time, and your constructive feedback will be very helpful.

We are also thrilled to report that applications for our online CAS in School Counseling and our Bridge Programs in School Counseling, College Counseling, and Mental Health Counseling are online now. As you consider your employment future you may find these programs helpful to increase your marketability.

More than anything, I want to wish you all a productive, growth producing, and above all satisfying Spring semester.

Enjoy!

Tom

AMERICAN COUNSELING ASSOCIATION

The American Counseling Association is our professional organization. ACA's mission is "to enhance the quality of life in society by promoting the development of professional counselors, advancing the counseling profession, and using the profession and practice of counseling to promote respect for human dignity and diversity" (ACA, 2012). ACA serves as an umbrella organization for the entire counseling profession. There are 19 divisions within ACA, encompassing a wide range of special interest areas. The divisions provide resources, leadership, and information to a variety of specialized interests. In addition, ACA is our voice with respect to issues relevant to our profession. ACA's national presence advocates on behalf of us all in areas ranging from professional recognition, scope of practice to insurance reimbursement. It also encourages and promotes cohesiveness in our profession.

The ACA publishes the Journal of Counseling and Development, as well as nine other professional journals. It hosts an annual international conference, which is scheduled for March 20-24, 2013 in Cincinnati. Go to the ACA website to get information about student support for attending the conference. NU CHAPTER-CHI SIGMA IOTA

NU Chapter of Chi Sigma Iota is alive and well here at Brockport. Chi Sigma Iota is the international honor society for counselor education students and alumni. Here at Brockport, we envision NU chapter as means of connecting students, faculty, and alumni. At the fall graduation ceremony new members were inducted. President Jeff Mangini and President Elect Mike Kalkbrenner welcomed Todd Costanza, Cassandra Fleck, Lauren Giglia, Michael Morde, Danielle Powell, and Michelle Tonsich. A founding member, Dr. Robb Adams, was present to welcome the new members. NU chapter, through its programming committee, hosts periodic events. Watch your b-mail for upcoming NU Chapter events.

NU Chapter also sponsors the Joseph Kandor Award of Excellence, which includes a $500 award. Applications for the 2014 award will be available soon. One does not have to be a member of NU chapter to participate in events, but all students meeting the criteria for acceptance are encouraged to join. The NU Chapter membership chair, Keri Neadom, is happy to discuss the membership requirements with any student. More information on membership in CSI and NU Chapter can be found at <http://nu.csi-chapters.org/>
